MESSAGE FROM
GOVERNOR MARK GORDON
SIXTY-FIFTH LEGISLATURE 2020 SPECIAL SESSION
MAY 15, 2020

In the months preceding your last budget session, a virus emerged in China that posed a dual threat: First, a health threat. Because it was a new, highly contagious, and insidious pathogen entering a virgin population, it spread quickly throughout the globe. There were very few treatment options and those infected with it experienced an increased risk of mortality depending on circumstance. Then there was the economic threat, with its own attendant health considerations brought on by how countries around the world responded through shutting down economic activity and restricting people's behaviors and travel.

Although the initial results of these often stringent health-related shutdowns seemed to demonstrate some ability to slow critical infection rates and ease the demand on healthcare systems, the resultant impacts to the global economy have been devastating. Within a month of an all-time high in the stock market, the market crashed, exacerbated in part by a coincident price war between two of the world's largest oil producers intent on driving a stake into the heart of our domestic oil industry. The world's economy shrank. US GDP has plummeted, and the issues that we focused on in this year's budget session, including declining coal sales and bottomed out natural gas prices have only grown worse. These are the revenues Wyoming depends upon to fund education and government.

In early March, Wyoming confirmed its first case of COVID-19. Just days after the session closed, Wyoming began to implement a series of measures that were intended to safeguard citizens' health and preserve precarious healthcare capacity. This was done out of an abundance of caution, at a time when some other states were experiencing an exponential growth in cases, corresponding deaths, and a mushrooming demand for medical care related to COVID-19. The disease has now spread to 213 countries and territories around the world.

Wyoming's efforts never rose to the level of other states but have been largely successful. So far we have seen just seven deaths in Wyoming - the lowest in the country. Nevertheless, these measures have burdened our economy, affecting in many instances our smallest, most fragile and local businesses disproportionately. While we are lifting most of those measures today ahead of many of our peer states, we must still recognize damage has been done. Worse perhaps is the fact that simply lifting Wyoming's orders will not miraculously bring back demand for the commodities Wyoming produces from agriculture, to minerals, to energy, or even tourism. All of these industries depend on robust consumption beyond the borders of Wyoming, and consumption will take some time to recover.

Our core manufacturing, agriculture, and resource-extraction industries, even while they never shut down, are diminished today as a result of the demand destruction that has attended the world's economic shutdown. Unemployment has risen dramatically in recent weeks, perhaps not as much in Wyoming as elsewhere, but significantly enough to cause unprecedented hardship for both our citizens and our small businesses. Tourism, our largest employer and the second-largest source of income to the state, has been crippled because no one is travelling, either out of fear of catching COVID or from travel restrictions imposed elsewhere. Our healthcare systems have responded well but are not yet out of the woods, and our counties and towns face potentially devastating losses of revenue. We have schools that need to prepare for the fall. Families that depend on food from their local pantries need help as do landlords, tenants, and others who depend on normal cash flow to repay their debts. It all happened so suddenly and unexpectedly. Folks are hurting and apprehensive about the future.

Congress recognized the cataclysmic nature of this crisis for our country and responded massively with perhaps one of the largest, yet most incoherent aid packages of all time, the so-called CARES Act. Although the monies coming to Wyoming are prodigious and the needs of our state and her people are extensive, the strictures of the bill are complicated and the resulting scrutiny on how those funds will be expended will no doubt be excruciating. The audits will be extensive and the penalties for misuse severe, particularly because Wyoming is the beneficiary of by far the largest per-capita share of Congress's largess.

CARES Act funds are Federal Funds that can be directed to existing state programs by the Executive Branch to meet Congress's intent as needed. And yet, Wyoming's needs are varied and this Governor believes the responsibilities associated with the use of those funds should be shared with and informed by the Wyoming's Legislature. These are extraordinary times which call for extraordinary cooperation between the branches of government.

Therefore, as stated in Article 3, Section 7 of the Wyoming Constitution, as Governor, I am authorized to call a special session in the case of a "grave emergency in the affairs of the state." My friends, Wyoming finds itself faced with such a grave emergency in the affairs of the state.

I have called this special session to ask for your assistance in apportioning these federal funds provided to Wyoming through the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act.. I am grateful for your willingness to help guide our state in this endeavor. I am looking forward to working with you as we establish programs that will meet the needs of the people of Wyoming. We must meet those needs expediently.. We must be thoughtful and attentive in our use of these funds, and we must remain focused on our goal of providing budgetary flexibility because some needs have not yet revealed themselves. We are here to work together to help our citizens, businesses, and local governments recover from the economic devastation brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic and how the world has reacted to it.

I thank you for your service.

Be safe, God Bless you, God Bless Wyoming, and God Bless the United States of America.

Speaker Harshman directed the Chief Clerk to read the Governor's Proclamation convening this special session of the 65th Wyoming Legislature.

STATE OF WYOMING
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT
GOVERNOR PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, COVID-19 was first detected in Wuhan, China in 2019, and since then has spread to over 60 countries including the United State. There are 479 confirmed cases of COVID-19 in Wyoming as of May 6, 2020 as well as the presence of community spread. It is certain that many more cases will be diagnosed. There have been 7 deaths in Wyoming related to COVID-19; and

WHEREAS, on March 13, 2020, Governor Mark Gordon declared a State of Emergency and Public Health Emergency in the State of Wyoming, stating that on March 11, 2020, an individual within the State of Wyoming is experiencing a public health emergency in response to the evolving COVID-19 outbreak; and

WHEREAS, Article 3, Section 7 of the Wyoming Constitution authorizes the Governor of the State of Wyoming to convene the Wyoming Legislature in a special session in the case of grave emergency in the affairs of the state;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Mark Gordon, Governor of the State of Wyoming, by the authority vested in me by the Wyoming Constitution, do by this proclamation, call the Sixty-Fifth Legislature of the State of Wyoming into a First Special Session to be conducted electronically with the anchor location at the Wyoming State Capitol in Cheyenne, Wyoming on the 15th day of May, 2020, at 8:00 a.m. to consider:

1. appropriating the federal funds available from the United State government to assist states, political subdivisions, and impacted businesses and individuals in addressing issues raised by the COVID-19 emergency and issues caused by steps taken to abate the emergency;
2. amending and creating programs to be administered by the state for the purpose of helping businesses and residents impacted by the COVID-19 emergency;
3. providing assistance to certain Wyoming businesses and residents negatively affected by the COVID-19 emergency; and
4. providing state budgetary flexibility, retention and transfer of funds to prepare state and local governments for the public health emergency and resulting economic devastation.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and cause the Executive Seal of the State of Wyoming to be affixed the 7th day of May, 2020.

The Honorable Mark Gordon
33rd Governor of the State of Wyoming

ADDRESS BY SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE
STEVE HARSHMAN

Good Morning Members of the House and Good Morning Wyoming, we appreciate the people of our state joining in and all the feedback and suggestions you have given us. I appreciate you taking part and watching this morning. We were last here on the evening of March 12. We had finished the business for our state, we concluded by singing God Bless America and then we adjourned on that Thursday Evening. We had 21 drilling rigs working in the state. We traveled home on Friday and then the world started changing that weekend. School closures came, health orders were instituted, that week also saw the beginning of the Saudi-Russian price war which has crushed our oil industry and sent the price into negative territory for the first time in history. We now have 4 drilling rigs working in our state today and we are told there will be zero on June 1st. That will be the first time in our states history that we don't have a drilling rig exploring for oil. Today there are 19,600 Wyoming citizens receiving unemployment, up from 3,900 when we left on March 12.

None of us could have predicted these EVENTS but the KEY now is how we RESPOND..How we RESPOND will make all the difference and will determine our outcome and shape our history. The people of Wyoming have stepped up and are making a difference. The acts of charity and bravery and service are incredible. On behalf of the Wyoming House of Representatives I want to express how proud I am of our state and our people.

WE GATHER HERE IN THIS SPECIAL SESSION focused on first things first, providing relief to our businesses, workers, local govts, health care providers, renters and landlords. This 1.25 billion is well under half of the funding that the federal govt has already provided to families, individuals, businesses throughout Wyoming. This 1.25 billion is a lot of money but the need is great. It is less than half of a percent of the federal stimulus funds provided thus far.

So I will close by saying that you will hear us talk about the process and as we work our way through this virtual format there will be mistakes made, we will have to stop and start at times. We will keep learning. The process is not perfect, as the east banister in the Capitol Building reminds us, only God is perfect, however our process provides much more transparency and public input than allowing the Governor's Office to be the sole decision maker regarding the Cares Act funds. The Governor and his staff have been exceptional in their efforts to work together for the good of Wyoming. However, only the Legislature can make the statutorily required changes if we are to give much needed relief.

So as we debate and work let's not lose sight of why we are here. The last 9 weeks have immeasurably changed our world and every life in Wyoming. There are dreams, plans and life's work that are teetering on the edge. We are here with humble hearts and filled with empathy. We ask that we all show some patience, grant each other some grace and keep our precious state in your daily prayers.

Majority Floor Leader moved to amend the Permanent and Joint Rules of the House of Representatives for the 65th Wyoming State Legislature be adding Joint Rule 23-1; Special Session Rules.

Amend the Joint Rules of the House and Senate by creating new Joint Rule 23 to read:

23. SPECIAL SESSION BILLS

- 23-1 (a) The following shall govern bills introduced during a special session of the 65th Legislature:
- (i) During the May 2020 special session, bills on a list first proposed by the respective majority floor leaders receiving a majority vote of the elected members of the Senate and House voting separately shall be introduced as identical or "mirror" bills in the Senate and the House. The list is debatable and amendable by floor amendments by majority vote of the elected members of the house voting on the list. Following introduction of any other bill, the bill shall be referred to the respective Senate or House rules committee;
 - (ii) During any other special session, bills on a list first proposed by the respective majority floor leaders receiving a majority vote of the elected members of the Senate and House voting separately shall be introduced and referred to the committee of the whole. The list is debatable and amendable by floor amendments by majority vote of the elected members of the house voting on the list. Following introduction of any other bill, the bill shall be referred to the appropriate standing committee by the presiding officer. All bills introduced under this paragraph shall follow the process as set forth in the Senate, House and Joint Rules, as applicable.
- (b) As to each pair of mirror bills identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule, only one (1) of the introduced mirror bills shall be enacted into law.
- (c) Notwithstanding any provision of Senate Rule 6-3 and House Rule 6-4 or any other rule to the contrary, following introduction in the house of origin of a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule, the mirror bill shall be referred to the committee of the whole. During committee of the whole action on a mirror bill, it shall be in order for the chairman or a member of a committee sponsoring the bill to move a recommendation on the mirror bill.
- (d) Following committee of the whole consideration in the house of origin of a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule, the mirror bill shall be immediately accelerated for consideration on second reading and third reading and final passage. Second and third reading will be conducted on the same legislative day as committee of the whole consideration of the mirror bill unless the second or third reading is extended to a subsequent legislative day. Third reading on the mirror bill shall commence at least ninety (90) minutes after the conclusion of second reading on the mirror bills.
- (e) The following shall govern amendments to mirror bills identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule:
- (i) Notwithstanding Senate Rule 10-3 and House Rule 10-1, a motion to amend a mirror bill in the Senate shall be seconded by six (6) members and a motion to amend a mirror bill in the House shall be seconded by twelve(12) members;
 - (ii) It shall be out of order to propose an amendment to a mirror bill during committee of the whole consideration in the first house;
 - (iii) Second reading amendments to a mirror bill shall be submitted and distributed to members prior to committee of the whole consideration of the mirror bill.
- (f) The following shall govern speaking during the May 2020 special session:

- (i) No member shall speak more than twice on the same question or amendment on the same day without leave of the Senate or House;
- (ii) No member shall occupy the floor more than five (5) minutes each time the member speaks and there shall be no extensions of time under this rule. This limitation shall not apply to:
 - (A) Explanation of a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule during committee of the whole in the first house or explanation of amendments to a mirror bill under subsection (h) of this rule;
 - (B) Explanation of the report committee under subsection (k) of this rule.
- (g) Notwithstanding House Rule 7-11 or Joint Rule 4-1, upon passage by the house of origin, a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule shall be delivered directly to the second house for action without engrossing but shall be accompanied by amendments adopted by the first house. A bill so delivered to, and in the possession of, the second house shall not be recalled for further action by the first house without the consent of the second house.
- (h) Notwithstanding Senate Rules 6-1, 7-1, 7-4 and 7-8, House Rules 6-1, 7-1, 7-4 and 7-9, and any other rule to the contrary:
 - (i) Upon introduction in the second house, a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule passed by the house of origin shall be placed and considered by the second house on third reading;
 - (ii) During third reading debate in the second house on a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule, each amendment adopted by the house of origin to its mirror bill which is not identical to an amendment adopted by the second house on its own corresponding mirror bill shall be explained on the floor by a member of the committee that sponsored the bill.
- (j) After explanation of amendments adopted by the house of origin as provided in paragraph (h)(ii) of this rule, no third reading vote will be taken on a mirror bill in the second house, and the bill shall not be sent back to the house of origin for concurrence. Rather, both mirror bills will be immediately referred to the same joint conference committee appointed by the presiding officers of both houses.
- (k) Notwithstanding Senate Rule 2-9, House Rule 2-5 and Joint Rules 2-1 through 2-3, the following rules shall govern joint conference committee action on mirror bills identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule:
 - (i) Both mirror bills shall be referred to a single joint conference committee as soon as third reading in the second house is completed;
 - (ii) The presiding officers of each house shall, in accordance with these rules and "Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure," appoint a conference committee of three (3) to confer on the two mirror bills. A majority of each conference committee shall be appointed from the prevailing side on the vote for third reading and final passage of the mirror bill originating in that house;
 - (iii) The chairmanship for conference committees on mirror bills shall alternate as follows:
 - (A) The Senate shall have the chairmanship on the first meeting day for the first mirror bill referred to joint conference under this rule. The House shall have the chairmanship on the first meeting day for the second mirror bill referred to joint conference under this rule. The initial chairmanship for each additional mirror bill referred to joint conference shall continue to alternate in the same manner.

- (B) After the first day a conference committee meets on a mirror bill assigned to joint conference under this rule the chairmanship shall alternate between the Senate and House for each additional day the joint conference committee meets.
- (iv) The first joint conference committee appointed is not a free committee, however, Joint Rule 2-1(b) shall apply and in addition, the conference committee may propose amendments to make language changes in the mirror bill necessary to incorporate amendments adopted by either house. Each successive committee appointed thereafter shall be a free conference committee as defined in Section 773 of "Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure";
- (v) The joint conference committee shall consider and dispose of each adopted Senate amendment to the Senate mirror bill and each adopted House amendment to the House mirror bill. Only one (1) report shall be submitted for both mirror bills and only one (1) of the two (2) mirror bills referred to the committee shall be reported back to both houses. The mirror bill not reported back to both houses shall be regarded as automatically tabled;
- (vi) The signed joint conference committee report shall be simultaneously referred to both houses for concurrence.
- (m) Notwithstanding Senate Rule 12-10, House Rule 12-11 or Part II (3) of the Wyoming Manual of Legislative Procedure, a motion for reconsideration of a vote on a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule shall be in order only on the same day that the original vote was taken and only if the bill is still in the possession of that house. The vote on the motion to reconsider shall be taken no later than the last item of business on the day of the original vote. If a vote to reconsider has passed or failed on a motion under this subsection, it shall not be in order to move to rescind the vote on that motion.
- (n) The following rules shall not apply to a mirror bill identified in paragraph (a)(i) of this rule: Senate Rules 4-7, 4-8, 5-2, 6-1, 6-3, 6-5(a), 7-1, 7-3, 7-4, 7-8 and 11-1 1st sentence and House Rules 4-7, 4-8, 5-2, 6-1, 6-4, 6-6(a) and (b), 7-1, 7-3, 7-4, 7-9 and 11-1. A requirement to distribute or sign under any Senate, House or Joint Rule is satisfied by electronic means.
- (o) Members who attend a special session remotely shall be considered present in person and within the bar of the respective Senate or House, shall be permitted to vote and shall be counted for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present. All actions heretofore undertaken and performed by the Senate and House for members to attend a special session remotely and be considered present are hereby ratified and approved.

(A) For payments for ad valorem taxes equal to one-half (1/2) of the amount due on and after September 1 and payable on and after November 10 in accordance with W.S. 39-13-108(b) (i) to assist property owners and to replace corresponding shortfalls in state and local government revenue. Absent enactment of further legislation, the allocation of distributions under this subparagraph shall be subject to the approval of the state loan and investment board;

(B) For a sales and use tax rate holiday for a three (3) month period, or as close thereto as permissible, beginning the first month after expenses under this subparagraph are determined by the governor to be allowed under federal law, rules or guidance. Notwithstanding W.S. 39-15-104(a) and (b) and 39-16-104(a) and (b), the state sales and use tax rate for the period specified in this subparagraph shall be zero percent (0%). On or before December 30, 2020, the department of revenue shall determine the amount of sales and use tax revenue that was distributed during the same time period in the immediately preceding calendar year corresponding to the period of the sales and use tax rate holiday authorized by this paragraph to be distributed to the state general fund, cities, towns and counties in order to most closely approximate distributions if a sales and use tax rate holiday was not provided. The state auditor shall transfer the amount determined by the department of revenue, or as much thereof as possible, from any unexpended, unobligated funds provided to the state through the CARES Act or other similarly purposed federal act."

"Section 7.

(a) In addition to the findings provided in Section 1 of this act, the legislature finds that:

(i) The fifth amendment to the United States constitution prohibits private property from being taken for public use without just compensation;

(ii) Article 1, section 33 of the Wyoming constitution provides that private property shall not be taken or damaged for public or private use without just compensation;

(iii) Wyoming statute 35-4-103 imposes an obligation on the state of Wyoming to pay for the expenses incurred in maintaining any state quarantine;

(iv) The public health orders issued by the governor and the state health officer required specified businesses to close for a specified time period in order to protect the health, safety and well-being of Wyoming residents;

(v) The adverse impacts on businesses directed to close in the public health orders, including a loss of income and revenue, require the payment of compensation from the state to the affected businesses using funds provided through the CARES Act or any other federal funds made available to the state of Wyoming in response to the COVID-19 pandemic;

(vi) The required closures shall be deemed regulatory takings only for the purposes of this act.

(b) As used in this section, "business required to close" means any business ordered to close because of the novel coronavirus or COVID-19 pursuant to an order by the governor or the state health officer that was promulgated between March 13, 2020 and May 15, 2020, provided that the business that closed is a type of business specified in the closure order.

(c) Any business required to close may file an application with the state loan and investment board seeking compensation for losses incurred as a result of the required closure. Any application filed under this subsection shall be in accordance with the rules of the state loan and investment board and the following:

(i) Compensation shall be determined after consideration of the following factors:

(A) The loss of income and revenue as a result of the ordered closures;

(B) The change in the amount of expenses as a result of the ordered closures;

(C) Whether the business received any state or federal funds in support of the business to reduce expenses or costs during the COVID-19 pandemic;

(D) Any other factor established by rule of the state loan and investment board.

(ii) All applications filed under this subsection shall be resolved and paid not later than December 30, 2020;

(iii) No application shall be filed under this section or accepted for consideration on or after December 30, 2020.

(d) Any amount that the state loan and investment board determines is required to be paid shall be paid to the applicant out of the state treasury on the warrant of the state auditor from the appropriation made in subsection (g) of this section for this purpose.

(e) No expenditure of funds shall be made under this section except in accordance with state and federal laws, regulations and orders.

(f) The state loan and investment board shall promulgate any emergency and regular rules necessary to administer the program authorized by this section.

(g) There is appropriated to the office of state lands and investments for expenditure by the state loan and investment board fifty million dollars ($50,000,000.00) from any federal funds made available for expenditure through the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act, P.L. No. 116-136, or from any other available federal funds related to the COVID-19 emergency response. If a COVID-19 relief account or other similarly named account is created for the deposit of COVID-19 related emergency response funds, this appropriation shall be made from that account. This appropriation shall be used only for the compensation payments authorized as provided by this section. This appropriation shall not be transferred or expended for any other purpose. Any unobligated, unexpended funds remaining from this appropriation on December 30, 2020 shall revert as provided by law.

"Section 3.

(a) As used in this section:

- (i) "Council" means the Wyoming business council;
- (ii) "Eligible business" means a business that:

(A) Was established on or before the date of enactment of any order issued by the state or any local government of Wyoming that required closures of businesses in response to the COVID-19 pandemic;

(B) Is independently owned and operated;

(C) Is headquartered in Wyoming or has its principal operations located in Wyoming; and

(D) On March 31, 2020, had employed one hundred (100) full-time employees or less.

(iii) "Required closure" means the closure of a business that was ordered by the state or any local government of Wyoming in an order issued or in effect beginning March 15, 2020 in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. "Required closure" shall also include the interruption of a business's normal business as a result of any closures or public health orders.

(b) The coronavirus business relief stipend program is hereby created. The Wyoming business council shall establish and administer this temporary program for the purpose of providing stipends to eligible businesses adversely impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic or by required closures. Stipends shall be awarded under this section in accordance with the following:

(i) Any eligible business may apply to the council for a stipend under this section. The application shall require the applicant to certify that it is an eligible business as defined by this section. The application shall also provide that knowingly making a false statement to the council on the application is prohibited and may result in the applicant being required to repay all funds awarded under this section;

(ii) The council may contract with financial institutions and other businesses to carry out the program created by this section and distribute stipends awarded under this section;

(iii) No stipend shall be awarded under this section without the applicant first submitting an expenditure plan on a simple form provided by the council. The council may request that the applicant provide any additional information necessary to determine the adequacy of the applicant's submitted plan;

(iv) Stipends awarded under this section shall be used by the eligible business for the following expenditures and expenses associated with the COVID-19 pandemic:

(A) Payroll costs;

(B) Business supplies;

(C) Business equipment including equipment necessary to resuming normal business operations and equipment necessary to modify business operations in response to the COVID-19 pandemic or to public health guidelines;

(D) Other business expenses, including but not limited to rent or mortgage payments, utilities and other operational costs;

(E) Any other expenditure or expense related to business interruption due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

(v) Before making a stipend under this section, the applicant shall demonstrate to the council's satisfaction the actual losses that the eligible business has incurred as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic or as a result of business interruptions due to a required closure or a public health order;

(vi) Stipends awarded under this section shall not exceed three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) for each eligible business;

(vii) Stipends shall be made only with funds provided to the state government of Wyoming under the federal CARES Act. No other funds of any kind and from any source shall be expended on the stipends awarded under this section;

(viii) Subject to federal law, stipends awarded under this section shall be conditioned upon the eligible business agreeing to:

(A) Continue to maintain a meaningful nexus to the state of Wyoming for not less than three (3) years after receiving a stipend under this section;

(B) Provide a report to the council not later than December 30, 2020 that describes how the funds were expended as authorized by paragraph (iv) of this subsection in response to the COVID-19 public health crisis;

(C) Repay all funds provided under this section plus interest at the rate of two percent (2%) per annum if the eligible business uses stipend funds for expenses not authorized by this section.

(ix) In awarding stipends under this section, the council shall take into consideration any funds received through the program created by Section 2 of this act, the federal paycheck protection program and any other funding available through the CARES Act and other state and federal programs in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

(c) The council shall promulgate any emergency and regular rules necessary to administer the program authorized by this section.

(d) The attorney general shall review in writing the legality of the program and any rules established for the program authorized by this section.

(e) No expenditure of funds shall be made under this section except in accordance with state and federal laws, regulations and orders.

(f) The council may conduct and contract for random audits of eligible businesses receiving stipends awarded under this section to ensure funds are expended in compliance with state and federal law.

(g) There is appropriated to the Wyoming business council one hundred seventy-five million dollars ($175,000,000.00) from any funds appropriated in 2020 House Bill 1001, Section 2(b) and as authorized and made available for expenditure in Section 2(c)(i), or 2020 Senate File 1001, Section 2(b) and as authorized and made available for expenditure in Section 2(c)(i), if enacted into law. "Section 3.

(a) As used in this section:

(i) "Business required to close" means any business ordered to close because of the novel coronavirus or COVID-19 pursuant to an order by the governor or the state health officer that was promulgated between March 13, 2020 and May 15, 2020, provided that the business that closed is a type of business specified in the closure order;

(ii) "Council" means the Wyoming business council;

(iii) "Eligible business" means a business that:

(A) Was established on or before the date of enactment of any order issued by the state or any local government of Wyoming that required closures of businesses in response to the COVID-19 pandemic;

(B) Is independently owned and operated;

(C) Is headquartered in Wyoming or has its principal operations located in Wyoming; and

(D) On March 31, 2020, had employed one hundred (100) full-time employees or less. The employee requirement of this subparagraph shall not apply to stipends awarded under this section upon good cause shown by the eligible business to the council as provided by rule of the council.

(iv) "Required closure" means the closure of a business that was ordered by the state or any local government of Wyoming in an order issued or in effect beginning March 15, 2020 in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. "Required closure" shall also include the interruption of a business's normal business as a result of any closures or public health orders or as a result of the public health crisis with respect to COVID-19.

(b) The coronavirus business relief stipend program is hereby created. The Wyoming business council shall establish and administer this temporary program for the purpose of providing stipends to eligible businesses adversely impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic or by required closures. Stipends shall be awarded under this section in accordance with the following:

(i) Any eligible business may apply to the council for a stipend under this section. The application shall require the applicant to certify that it is an eligible business as defined by this section. The application shall also provide that knowingly making a false statement to the council on the application is prohibited and may result in the applicant being required to repay all funds awarded under this section;

(ii) The council may contract with financial institutions and other businesses to carry out the program created by this section and distribute stipends awarded under this section;

(iii) No stipend shall be awarded under this section without the applicant first submitting an expenditure plan on a simple form provided by the council. The council may request that the applicant provide any additional information necessary to determine the adequacy of the applicant's submitted plan;

(iv) Stipends awarded under this section shall be used by the eligible business for the following expenditures and expenses associated with the COVID-19 pandemic:

(A) Payroll costs;

(B) Business supplies;

(C) Business equipment including equipment necessary to resuming normal business operations and equipment necessary to modify business operations in response to the COVID-19 pandemic or to public health guidelines;

(D) Other business expenses, including but not limited to rent or mortgage payments, utilities and other operational costs;

(E) Any other expenditure or expense related to business interruption due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

(v) Before making a stipend under this section, the applicant shall demonstrate to the council's satisfaction the actual losses that the eligible business has incurred as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic or as a result of business interruptions due to a required closure or a public health order;

(vi) Stipends awarded under this section shall not exceed three hundred thousand dollars ($300,000.00) for each eligible business;

(vii) Stipends shall be made only with funds provided to the state government of Wyoming under the federal CARES Act. No other funds of any kind and from any source shall be expended on the stipends awarded under this section;

(viii) Subject to federal law, stipends awarded under this section shall be conditioned upon the eligible business agreeing to:

(A) Continue to maintain a meaningful nexus to the state of Wyoming for not less than three (3) years after receiving a stipend under this section;

(B) Provide a report to the council not later than December 30, 2020 that describes how the funds were expended as authorized by paragraph (iv) of this subsection in response to the COVID-19 public health crisis;

(C) Repay all funds provided under this section plus interest at the rate of two percent (2%) per annum if the eligible business uses stipend funds for expenses not authorized by this section.

(ix) In awarding stipends under this section, the council shall take into consideration any funds received through the program created by Section 2 of this act, the federal paycheck protection program and any other funding available through the CARES Act and other state and federal programs in response to the COVID-19 pandemic.

(c) Any eligible business that is a business required to close as defined by paragraph (a)(i) of this section may apply to the council on a form provided by the council for a supplemental closure stipend under the program as provided by this subsection. The council shall award supplemental closure stipends to businesses required to close after consideration of the following factors for each applicant:

(i) The loss of income and revenue as a result of the ordered closures;

(ii) The change in the amount of expenses as a result of the ordered closures;

(iii) Whether the business received any state or federal funds in support of the business to reduce expenses or costs during the COVID-19 pandemic;

(iv) Any other factor established by rule of the council.

(d) The council shall promulgate any emergency and regular rules necessary to administer the program authorized by this section.

(e) The attorney general shall review in writing the legality of the program and any rules established for the program authorized by this section.

(f) No expenditure of funds shall be made under this section except in accordance with state and federal laws, regulations and orders.

(g) The council may conduct and contract for random audits of eligible businesses receiving stipends awarded under this section to ensure funds are expended in compliance with state and federal law.

(h) There is appropriated to the Wyoming business council two hundred twenty-five million dollars ($225,000,000.00) from any funds appropriated in 2020 House Bill 1001, Section 2(b) and as authorized and made available for expenditure in Section 2(c)(i), or 2020 Senate File 1001, Section 2(b) and as authorized and made available for expenditure in Section 2(c)(i), if enacted into law. If a COVID-19 relief account or other similarly named account is created for the deposit of COVID-19 related emergency response funds, this appropriation shall be made from that account. This appropriation shall be used only for the establishment and operation of the program authorized by this section. Of this federal funds appropriation, fifty million dollars ($50,000,000.00) shall be expended only on the supplemental closure stipends as provided by subsection (c) of this section. Except as provided in Section 5 of this act, this appropriation shall not be transferred or expended for any other purpose. Any unobligated, unexpended funds remaining from this appropriation on December 30, 2020 shall revert as provided by law.

Majority Floor Leader Barlow: Mr. Speaker, I move that bills currently pending before this body in the 65th Wyoming State Legislature, 2020 Special Session, be indefinitely postponed.

Minority Floor Leader Connolly: Mr. Speaker I second the motion of the Majority Floor Leader.

Speaker Harshman: You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' By your vote the motion has passed the House.

Majority Floor Leader Barlow: Mr. Speaker, I move that the Senate be informed that the House of Representatives, of the 65th Wyoming State Legislature, 2020 Special Session, has completed its business and is ready to adjourn.

Speaker Harshman: You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' Motion carried. I am directing that House Chief Clerk, Wendy Harding, inform the Senate that the House of Representatives, 2020 Special Session of the 65th Wyoming State Legislature, is ready to adjourn.

Speaker Harshman: We have informed His Excellency, the Governor, Mark Gordon, that the House of Representatives has completed its business and is ready to adjourn. Given these special circumstances we will not personally escort the Governor to the House chamber but have requested he join this special session via video conference from his office in the Capitol.

Speaker Harshman: Governor Gordon, we welcome you to the House of Representatives.

Governor Gordon gave closing remarks to the members of the House.

Speaker Harshman: Governor Gordon, on behalf of the members of the House of Representatives, I thank you for your closing remarks to us during this difficult time. Your leadership during this crisis is greatly respected and appreciated. It conclusively benefits all the residents of our great state of Wyoming.

CLOSING OF SESSION

Majority Floor Leader Barlow moved the following:

1. That the House of Representatives, 65th Wyoming State Legislature, Special Session, adjourn until a date and time which are determined jointly by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and by the President of the Senate for the purpose of calling the House and Senate back into session.
2. That if no such time is established before December 31, 2020, the House of Representatives, 65th Wyoming State Legislature, Special Session, is adjourned sine die effective at 12:00 o'clock noon on that date and the Legislative General Session, 66th Wyoming Legislature, shall convene on the 12th day of January, 2021 at the hour of twelve o'clock noon.
3. That the House of Representatives specifically concurs in any identical motion adopted by the Senate.
4. That if the Senate fails to concur in the action of the House of Representatives under paragraphs 1 through 3 of this motion, by adopting an identical motion applicable to the Senate, the House of Representatives of the 65th Wyoming State Legislature, May 2020 Special Session, is adjourned sine die.

Speaker Harshman: You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye', opposed, 'No.' By your vote, the motion has passed the House.

Speaker Harshman: We are now at that order of business, the Reading, Correction and Approval of the Journal.

Representative Western: Mr. Speaker, your Journal Committee reports that the Journal of May 16, 2020 has been read and recommends that it be approved.

Speaker Harshman: There being no objection, the report is adopted

Benediction by Representative Kinner.

Speaker Harshman: The House is adjourned.

OPENING ADDRESS BY SECRETARY OF STATE
EDWARD A. BUCHANAN

Good afternoon everyone,

I am very proud to be back speaking before this body exactly ten years after my own nomination as speaker of the house -- and so I have a special place in my heart for this institution and for all those with whom I have served, including staff, whose service to this institution is peerless.

Mr. Speaker-elect & members of leadership, I congratulate you on the new role you are about to undertake, and I deeply appreciate the opportunity to work with you and your leadership team both this session and beyond.

And to the entire house--the incumbents as well as the newly elected -- I join so many others that are deeply appreciative of the time you take away from your families and from your professions to serve the constituents all across our great state. You truly exemplify what it is to be a public servant.

And it is with a deep sense of commitment and hopeful purpose that we come together - the Executive and Legislative branches to strive and develop and implement policies that are fair and just - to both limit government and also to provide for the general welfare of the people of the great state of Wyoming.

I do believe that in Wyoming we hold high standards for our legislative process. We each strive to legislate and govern in a way that makes most other states both envious of our ability to interact as citizens and as neighbors and also long for the way things used to be. But in Wyoming, we still have that "like it used to be" and the torch has been passed to each of you to maintain and improve our heritage. The respect each of us has for this institution, and for one another and, as importantly, the process, makes the role of an elected official in Wyoming an honor, a privilege and a responsibility.

I would like now to briefly discuss with you the work of my office and several areas where I believe that we can collaborate.

I would like to begin by thanking the staff in the Secretary of State's office. They are a small group of only 30 individuals - who work together to cover a huge variety of duties, and in doing so contributed to the $57 million of revenue generated by our office in the last biennium. That is an increase of $8.1 million dollars over the previous biennium. They are indeed a hard-working group - and they continually strive to maximize efficiencies across our office. I would also like to say a special thanks to our information technology staff who during these challenging times pivoted very adeptly to allow us to telework, be in the office and overall meet the needs of our constituents and customers statewide.

And next, I would like to thank you, the Legislature. You allowed us the funding which allowed the purchase of new election equipment for all 23 of our Wyoming counties. As a result of this authorization, you contributed to an incredibly smooth 2020 election cycle. I am also extremely grateful not only to my elections staff but to all 23 county clerks and their staffs who met so many challenges in 2020 with grace and professionalism. Ours is a partnership that ensures superb election management and culminated in the execution of a nearly flawless election.

Despite the challenges of 2020, our election fair. It was secure and it was efficient. With the new equipment, we wanted to emphasize efficiency, yes, but more importantly, security. During my tenure I have sought to update our election code to ensure that we continue to set be benchmark to which other states aspire. I will appreciate and support any efforts by this body to maintain the integrity of our elections in the years to come. Elections must be accessible. They must be transparent. They must be accountable and most of all, secure. These standards I set are not always synonymous with sheer convenience, but convenience is not the goal -- accessibility and opportunity are the goals. And I continue to believe voting is a right that citizens must undertake with both pride and a modicum of self- initiative.

On another front our business division remained open during the challenging time that was 2020 and our online filing system gave our citizens the ability to form businesses and access business documents 7 days a week, 24 hours a day from the safety of their homes. My office continues to prioritize excellent customer service and the reinforcement of Wyoming's business-friendly reputation. So, to advance our united goal - the expansion of this reputation - I stand ready to work together on a measured approach in utilizing new technology.

And in looking towards continued efficiencies, we are eager to work with you to modernize our notaries public act and simplify access to Wyoming notaries for our citizens.

Now beyond the statutory duties of my office, my fellow statewide elected officials and myself serve together in our capacity as the State Board of Land Commissioners, the State Building Commission and the State Loan and Investment Board.

As members of state government, we are abundantly aware of the dire financial situation we currently face. We have a constitutional duty to provide funding to the Common School Land Fund. And in that capacity, I know that I and my fellow members take seriously our fiduciary duty to consider all options for these public lands for mining, grazing, forestry, and recreation.

The importance of balancing multiple uses of this land is felt very closely by members of the board. In fiscal year 2020 the amount of income generated by state lands which was deposited to both the Common School Permanent Fund and the Common School Income Fund totaled over $98,000,000 - a result of a robust multiple use policy.

As members of the State Loan and Investment Board, we also oversaw the distribution of Coronavirus Relief Grants providing support for Wyoming's cities, towns and counties as they dealt with the economic impacts of the pandemic. The board worked hand in hand with the Governor's office, the Office of State Lands and Investments and the Attorney General's office to ensure that these federal funds were quickly awarded to local governments, healthcare facilities and first responders, among others - all while insuring compliance with the federal guidance regarding distribution. And I would like to say a special thanks to my fellow board members--Governor Mark Gordon, Treasurer Meier, Auditor Racines and Superintendent Balow. Wyoming is fortunate to have a group that works well together. Of course, we have a robust board that has policy discussions and works very well together. We have those policy discussions. We don't always agree, but we are singular in our focus --to do what is best for Wyoming.

In closing, you face some incredible challenges in the current environment. This session will be difficult. Your work is hard, your work will sometimes feel like it's thankless, but I want each of you to know you have the sincerest thanks of a former speaker, and you have the sincerest thanks from a grateful state. Even in the hardest of debates and the toughest of votes, I want you to look to your colleagues because, the people of the legislative institution are its greatest asset and one of the reasons I always say that, next to the joy of family, my service to the legislature was the greatest experience of my life. So, for the newly-elected, be proud of where you are and be humble in your service to the people of Wyoming. And I will continue to work side-by-side with you in my role as Secretary of State.

We are going to accomplish great things for Wyoming. And while that task is great, I know you stand ready to guide the state home. I know you stand ready to fulfil the promise of the great state of Wyoming. I truly believe that our best days lie ahead of us, and I look forward to arriving at that destination together with you.

So, thank you for the opportunity. God bless you, God bless your families your families. God bless Wyoming and God bless our great nation, the United States of America.

ELECTION OF TEMPORARY SPEAKER

Representative Zwonitzer nominated Representative Steve Harshman for Temporary Speaker. The motion carried.

ADOPTION OF TEMPORARY RULES

Representative Sommers moved that the permanent House and Joint Rules of the 65th Legislature be adopted as the Temporary Rules of the House of Representatives for the 66th Wyoming Legislature General Session. Motion carried by voice vote.

Majority Floor Leader Sommers moved Joint Rule 0001 proposing the Temporary House and Joint Rules of the 66th Wyoming State Legislature be amended by repealing Joint Rule 23 and recreating it, 2021 General Session, applicable to this General Session.

JR0001/ADOPTED

Rule 23 of the Joint Rules of the House and Senate is repealed and recreated to read:

23. 2021 GENERAL SESSION

- 23-1 (a) During the 2021 General Session, a requirement to print, distribute, deliver or sign under any Senate, House or joint rule may be satisfied by electronic means, including notice for committee meetings pursuant to Senate Rule 5-2 and House Rule 5-2.
- (b) Members who attend the 2021 General Session remotely shall be considered present in person, shall be considered within the bar and on the floor of the respective Senate or House, shall be permitted to vote and shall be considered present for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present and for all other purposes when visible with a live video stream while on the meeting platform. Members who attend any committee meeting during the 2021 General Session remotely shall be considered present in person, shall be permitted to vote and shall be considered present for purposes of determining whether a quorum is present and for all other purposes when visible with a live video stream while on the meeting platform. All actions heretofore undertaken and performed by the Senate and House for members to attend the 2021 General Session remotely and be considered present are hereby ratified and approved. NOTICE TO THE GOVERNOR

Speaker Barlow directed the Chief Clerk to notify his Excellency, the Governor, that the General Session of the House of Representatives, 66th Wyoming Legislature is duly organized and ready to receive any communication he may desire to submit.

NOTICE TO THE SENATE

Speaker Barlow directed the Chief Clerk to notify the Senate that the House of Representatives, 66th Wyoming Legislature is duly organized and ready to receive any communication they may desire to submit.

Speaker Barlow: We are now at that order of business of reading, introduction and reference of bills.

Majority Floor Leader Sommers moved that the House recess to allow members to hear his Excellency, the Governor, deliver his message to the Legislature at 2:00 p.m. The motion carried.

THE STATE OF THE STATE
GOVERNOR MARK GORDON
SIXTY-SIXTH LEGISLATURE GENERAL SESSION
JANUARY 12, 2021

President Dockstader, Speaker Barlow, Members of the 66th Legislature, fellow Executive Officers, First Lady Jennie, friends, and you, the people of Wyoming; good morning. It is an honor to address you from the fully restored Historic Supreme Court Chamber in our State Capitol.

It seems appropriate somehow that I deliver my 2021 State of the State address to you from this room where so much of our history has happened. It was here where our groundbreaking Constitution was ratified.

That document begins in the first article by asserting that "All power is inherent in the people and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their peace, safety, and happiness..." Section 2 reads: "In their inherent right to life liberty and the pursuit of happiness, all members of the human race are equal;" a clear echo of the Declaration of Independence. Then, Section 3 contains the text that put this very room on the National Register of Historic Places, "Since equality in the enjoyment of natural and civil rights is only made sure through political equality, the laws of this state affecting the political rights and privileges of its citizens shall be without distinction of race, color, sex, or any circumstance or condition whatsoever other than individual incompetency, or unworthiness duly ascertained by a court of competent jurisdiction." With these words, Wyoming became the first government to permanently recognize the inherent right of women to vote one hundred thirty one years ago. How fitting is it that this is the 2nd day of Women's History Month. That monumental document, our Constitution, was signed in this room when it served as the Territorial House. This room later served as the Wyoming Supreme Court Chamber.

Although Chief Justice Davis is not with us here today, I want to recognize him as well as Justices Kautz, Fox, Boomgaarden, and Gray, and the balance of the judiciary; the 3rd branch of government enumerated in our Constitution. And I thank them for their continued commitment to administering the laws of our state. Even in a time when so much of the court's business had to take place virtually, their important legal work continued unabated. I look forward to hearing from Chief Justice Davis on the State of the Judiciary later.

I also wish to acknowledge the hard work of the four other statewide elected executive branch officers: Secretary of State Ed Buchanan, Auditor Kristi Racines, Treasurer Curt Meier, and Superintendent Jillian Balow. Their leadership over this past year has been exemplary.

A special thank you to the 65th Legislature for their dedication this past year. To you, the new and returning members of the 66th Legislature of the State of Wyoming, I say congratulations. And thank you for your willingness to step forward during this unprecedented time.

I know you will join me in thanking our Wyoming National Guard under the able command of Adjutant General Porter. The Guard has been an extraordinary asset for Wyoming this year, thank you.

Tribes

I want to recognize our friends, citizens, and sovereign neighbors: the Northern Arapaho and Eastern Shoshone Tribes. Throughout this pandemic and economic crisis, we have stood shoulder to shoulder. I extend my most sincere gratitude to both tribes and their business councils for their diligent efforts to protect the residents of the Wind River Reservation.

Last year, we passed two bills to support federal efforts and state agency cooperation to address Missing and Murdered Indigenous Persons. We have now released a statewide report to shine a light on these important issues. This report, the first in the nation, provides local data and perspectives directly from indigenous families impacted by violence. It provides evidence of what Tribal leadership has known, that Native American Wyomingites are subjected to higher rates of violence, and they face obstacles when reporting that violence.

I am proud that Wyoming has stepped up to this challenge, and thank the Legislature for their leadership in confronting this issue. I look forward to working with Chairman Dresser and Chairman St. Clair, as well as legislative leaders and our delegation, on the recommendations contained in this report.

Pandemic and Vaccination

I do not need to remind you of the challenges of the past year. Certainly, early on, no other part of our state was more impacted than Fremont County. I want to further congratulate Chairman Dresser and Chairman St. Clair, as well as Rick Brannan and David Meyers, for their ongoing leadership in vaccinating Wind River Reservation residents. From the start, the Tribes have served as a model in effectively administering the vaccine.

Here in Wyoming, we were faced with the obligation of saving lives and sustaining livelihoods. On top of that, we had an ongoing budget crisis brought on by a collapse of commodity prices.

Still, we have worked together over this past year to address a number of issues as citizens. And I am heartened that we are making progress statewide. While the pandemic is not over yet, the light at the end of the tunnel is getting brighter by the day. And it is clear that the path we charted and followed has proven to be among the best in the nation.

Our unemployment rate remains below the national average. Fewer Wyoming citizens have suffered from COVID-19, and fewer still, have passed than in other states.

But that is only half the story. Because one year later, more than 97% of Wyoming's businesses are still operating; far better than elsewhere. Through our efforts, we delivered proportionally more CARES Act dollars to small businesses than any other state. And our small businesses are hanging-in.

And now, when most other states are only beginning to talk about reopening schools, we know Wyoming students have been attending in-person since August. That is thanks to the extraordinary efforts of teachers, parents, and students.

I made a promise when I became your Governor to ride for the brand, and I have kept it.

We cannot be a state with one of the lowest infection and mortality rates, one of the lowest unemployment rates, and highest business viability rates, unless we are making good decisions, and trying to do the right things the right way. We have achieved that balance this past year, in large part, through the steadfast guidance of our State Health Officer and Attorney General.

I want to thank Dr. Harrist and her team for adhering to the scientific approach they have taken over this past year when, believe me, it would have been much easier to follow politics. She embodied the belief that some things are simply not for sale.

I want to acknowledge the principled insights of Attorney General Hill. She knew where to draw the line to protect our citizen's rights that are enshrined in the Constitutions of the United States and Wyoming.

Better days lie ahead, but we must never forget those who have passed. More than 670 of our friends, neighbors, parents, and grandparents succumbed to this unpredictable disease.

I am sad that Wyoming does not do as well nationally when it comes to deaths per capita. I ask myself each night as I pray, what more could have been done to save these souls who were taken from us by this hideous virus.

Some have lost decades of love and happiness with their friends and family. I am sure, by now, each of us can put a face to this tragedy. I know I have lost more than one friend. It is, therefore, fitting that we pause here for a moment to remember them.

Fortunately, though, vaccines are now available. I am pleased to say that Wyoming's vaccination efforts are proceeding smoothly. In fact, Wyoming's vaccine administration of health care workers and the most vulnerable is one of the most efficient in the nation. I want to thank health care professionals and providers across Wyoming for their dedication and work to administer these life-saving vaccines. We know that new vaccines are coming, and that supplies are rapidly increasing. It is our best and fastest way to eliminate and eradicate this virus, and safely get back to our regular ways.

Wyoming is Strong

Spring is nigh, and that is always a time of renewal and rejuvenation. With each passing day, Wyoming is looking forward to getting back outdoors to calves and lambs on the ground, crops in the field, and maybe even scouting for a fall hunt or drowning a fly.

It will feel good to begin our recovery and rebound from the pandemic, but it will not just happen. We are not quite out of the woods yet. Success will require action from individuals, businesses, and our state government. That is what, I believe, this session is all about.

I am sure there will be temptations to get sidetracked with politically oriented legislation, but this year, we have to keep our eye on the ball. Because we are only going to have one chance to turn this welcomed spring into a thriving summer and a bountiful future.

You are off to a good start. The short session in January saw important legislation passed and signed into law. This legislation expanded banking in Wyoming, extended the Energy Authority's ability to bring more tax-paying business to our state, and improved ways to address invasive species that cause so much economic harm. More than that, your efforts prove what our founders knew so well. That citizen legislators perform better than professional politicians every time when it comes to the needs of the people. My hat is off to you.

We also owe a special thank you to our state employees, for this past year revealed their commitment to public service. Even as their agency budgets were cut, and hundreds of positions eliminated, state employees continued to be more resourceful and work harder than ever before.

I particularly want to thank our school teachers, administrators, and school district staff for their efforts to keep schools open. I am grateful for your service. I am especially those food service workers who continued to deliver food to those suffering from hunger all across this great state.

I am also grateful for our healthcare workers, first responders, and essential workers. Their dedication, courage, and commitment to the people of Wyoming has been so visible this past year. They did their jobs, and did them well. Above all, I am proud of our Wyoming people.

We all found a way to live each day with courage. We took pride in the work we each did moving Wyoming forward under difficult circumstances. Holding graduations, opening our signature National Parks earlier than our neighbors, hosting record numbers of visitors to our state, and responding to the needs of our citizens with testing supplies and medicines. We even manufactured key supplies ourselves when necessary.

In the years ahead, future generations will look back and ask, "What made Wyoming different from other states during the pandemic?" They will always arrive at the same answer. Our people, and because we adhered to our state code.

Today I can say, with pride and confidence, that the state of our state is strong. Not because our economy is as robust as it was a year ago, for that's certainly not the case. Not because we are free of this dreadful virus, because it is still a pain. Not because we have solved all of our budget problems, for we have yet to face that piper. And certainly not because somehow the federal government is here to help us, for most assuredly they are heading in a different direction. It is because we are the people we are: weathered, tested, and resilient. We are a stubborn people, unwilling to concede during tough times. Our parents and grandparents experienced them before and prevailed. It is in our DNA.

It is that resolute spirit that is our greatest asset. The knowledge that we will stand by our neighbors, and they by us, regardless of our differences. That, I believe, will see us through these times. It is that spirit that makes Wyoming strong.

The State's Financial Health

Our fiscal health is also an issue. That, like the pandemic, cannot be ignored.

Conditions in 2020 required that we make significant cuts to the budget that the 65th Legislature passed a year ago. These cuts were the largest in our state's history, prompted by the largest loss of income in our state's history. Many of these cuts devastated state government services and programs, including ones that serve some of our most vulnerable populations. None of this was easy. Moreover, as I have stated before, we may not be done yet.

I believe Wyoming citizens should be able to easily understand how public funds are spent and better comprehend the state's true financial condition. They deserve no less, because it is their money, not ours.

The good news is that the Legislature and the Executive branches have worked together well this year to address the budgetary issues our state has faced during the pandemic. The irony of working to deploy copious CARES dollars effectively, while simultaneously cutting a half billion dollars from the general budget, should be lost on no one. Nevertheless, I look forward to our continuing partnership in the months ahead. We have more work to do.

My cabinet stepped up through the two rounds of cuts. I am proud of how they managed to, carefully, but strategically, balance the budget before you for your consideration, and money in the rainy day fund. That has all been accomplished with fiscal transparency.

Auditor Racines' WyOpen website and my own Wyoming Sense website are available online for anyone to track where the money went. With transparency in mind. I will continue to argue for a simpler budget. One like families are used to; with one checkbook, and one savings account. On this point, I thank the Senate Appropriations Committee for moving us towards that goal last week by passing Senate File 71.

Undeniably, we are entering more frugal times and we will have to continue to temper wants and emphasize needs. It is now your turn to consider how best to meet the needs of our people without burdening the generations to come. That is the tradition of Wyoming people: to build for the future, and not just take for today.

I look forward to hearing your dialogue and seeing the fruits of your labors. After all, the budget is the single most important responsibility of this Legislature. I am confident it will be addressed seriously and thoughtfully.

Energy & Minerals

When it comes to energy, we have and have had great champions in Washington, D.C., and we certainly need them now. I want to thank Senator Enzi for his distinguished career. And I thank Senators Barrasso and Lummis, and Congresswoman Cheney for their fantastic service. This is a delegation, which punches far above its weight. I am glad they have our back.

Let me take a moment to say how much I appreciate the letter the Northern Arapaho Tribe wrote in support of the State's position by asking the Biden Administration to rescind the federal oil and gas leasing moratorium. It was an important recognition of our partnership, even though I recognize the Tribe's support for Representative Haaland's nomination to be the next Secretary of the Interior.

Although exempted from the moratorium, our Northern Arapaho neighbors demonstrated that we are all one Wyoming family by sending a letter to the Acting Secretary of Interior. In the letter, they noted that the moratorium affecting oil and gas operations on Federal Lands harmed all Wyoming citizens, including Tribal members. Thank you Chairman Dresser, and Members of the Northern Arapaho Business Council, for your courage.

Wyoming has long recognized the need for a broad energy portfolio that is reliable in reality, and not just on paper. This past year has reconfirmed the value of that proposition, as we have seen both summer and winter conditions test regional electric supply.

The energy and environmental policies of Washington, D.C. have changed; radically changed. In just a few weeks, through a series of executive orders, cabinet appointments, and policy announcements, we are facing a clear and present threat to our long-term core industries.

All decisions from D.C. must now pass a superficial, climate litmus test that ignores jobs, cost, reliability, and in many cases, real climate solutions. In D.C., they claim to follow the science, but they adopt policies that resemble science fiction.

This crazed pursuit of 100% "green" energy ignores the urgency of finding better ways to capture, use, and sequester carbon. It fantasizes that crippling our own nation is somehow good for our world. Nothing could be more off the mark.

In Wyoming, we know "green" can mean greenhorn; defined as an untested and potentially unreliable newcomer that is not capable of doing what is demanded. But Wyoming is embracing solar and wind development. Both are emerging and important parts of Wyoming's total energy portfolio. But, we are not fooled by false promises either. We want to see what can be done.

Our long history of working with coal, oil and natural gas, and regulating its related impacts to protect and enhance other natural resources, such as wildlife, is well established. Wind and solar development must be held to the same standards.

I am committed to continue working with the Legislature to provide a consistent and clear policy for future wind and solar development, as well as, to secure an appropriate economic benefit to the people of Wyoming.

I would ask wind and solar companies to increase their commitment to Wyoming just as our fossil fuel industry has done, by bringing their long-term jobs such as manufacturing of turbines and panels here.

Still, we must recognize the solution to CO2 in the atmosphere is not found in a single technology that has singular limits. It is found in our agricultural practices, and in healthy forests. It is also found in innovative and breakthrough technologies like those being developed in Gillette at the ITC, and, at our own University.

But, and I say this with both confidence and conviction, to achieve meaningful climate goals, and provide a resilient affordable energy supply, fossil fuels, coupled with a commitment to improving the ways we utilize them, must remain a substantial supply option. As Governor, my position remains clear and firm. I will continue to fight for our state's future, and defend the right to responsibly develop all of our resources.

With the principles of our State Code in mind, on January 29th, I issued an Executive Order requiring state agencies to evaluate the impact that the Biden oil and gas orders would have on their operations. That information is being compiled.

Meanwhile, I have sent letters to the President, the Acting Secretary of the Interior, and the Acting State BLM Director, identifying the devastating consequences of a needless review of approvals for day-to-day, well-regulated activities. I have had phone calls with Biden's top climate officials explaining our position and demanding relief. I have led 16 other Republican Governors in a combined effort to reverse the President's wrong-headed orders. And I have led a bipartisan effort, along with Governor Lujan-Grisham of New Mexico and others across the aisle, to seek better communications and a more informed understanding of the vital role oil and gas plays in our states.

Again, let me be clear. I will not waiver in my efforts to protect our industries; particularly, our coal industry. The use of coal is under assault from all directions. We have stood firm in our support of it throughout, for good reason. Paradoxically, it is the very industry, which offers the best chance, and most efficient way, to remove CO2 from our atmosphere.

That is why I ask this Legislature to pick up where we left off last year with HB200, and the establishment of the Wyoming Energy Authority. So we can provide the means necessary to make CO2 capture a reality in Wyoming and preserve one of our most important industries. Many states talk about the importance of net zero carbon emissions. But, today, I challenge you to join me in making Wyoming net negative in CO2 emissions.

We have to take the lead, and not look back. That is the best, and maybe only, way to meet the threats we face. With our commitment, our fossil fuel industry, and broader economy, can achieve this ambitious goal of net negative CO2 emissions without falling behind economically.

Promising new technologies such as hydrogen, which can be produced through the use of carbon capture and our abundant supply of fossil fuels, can help us meet the demands of transportation in ways electrification alone cannot. Moreover, a hydrogen economy would be a game changer.

It is not here yet, but it is much closer to a reality than a theory. Wyoming can and must be a leader in this and other emerging technologies, even as we pursue the development of resources such as wind and solar.

I ask for your support. As we actively and thoughtfully collaborate with industry environmental groups, entrepreneurs, local communities, and others to produce our way to net negative carbon emissions, literally. Not by regulating away our past, but by innovating our way to the future. That is what the Wyoming Energy Authority and School of Energy Resources are working to deliver.

We must develop responsibly, while continuing our efforts to protect our wildlife and cherished places. We have proven that we can do it well, as in the case of the greater sage-grouse, and now migration corridor conservation.

Our work is seminal, and we need to be recognized for it. It is time that federal wildlife and land conservation policies follow the lessons of success in the field, and not the theories from desk-bound policy makers in Washington.

Tourism

Energy is not the only driver of Wyoming's Economy.

This past year, despite a global pandemic that saw steep drops in air travel, Wyoming saw a surge in tourism. It is our second-largest industry and our largest employer.

With our beautiful mountains, excellent hunting and fishing, climbing, camping, horseback adventures, and unparalleled western hospitality, we truly have the potential for a bonanza. And that is true even with the stiff competition we face from neighboring states, all of which contribute more to their industry than Wyoming does. Think about what our tourism industry accomplished last year.

Our state parks saw incredible visitation. Folks came to Wyoming in droves when other states were shut down. People came from every corner of the nation to visit a place that was safe, open for business, and welcoming. We were the first to provide access to Yellowstone National Park. Almost every part of Wyoming saw increased numbers of campers, fishermen, horn hunters, boaters, and more.

This year, as people return to more normal travel patterns, and international travel reopens, we can look forward to seeing what the pent-up demand for what Wyoming has to offer, and brings to our state. It has been reported that nearly $1.6 trillion of tourist's savings dollars are raring to go vacationing. Let's make sure we keep a bit of that in Wyoming.

Wyoming must be ready to take advantage of this opportunity, and grow this critical industry carefully, so that the Wyoming that we know and love will continue to be the home we all know. Tourism is an opportunity to fuel our economy that we simply cannot ignore.

Agriculture

Agriculture will play an ever more significant role in our economic revival. The experience of this past year has laid bare the food insecurity that plagues our entire country. Wyoming is not immune to those issues. That is why I am so proud of the work done by the First Lady's Wyoming Hunger Initiative. Food from the Field, Food from the Farm and Ranch, and others around the state, have moved us forward during these times.

As with many things in Wyoming, folks are stepping up to help neighbors. It is important work and there is a lot more to be done. But it is work that will benefit our broader economy by bolstering domestic meat processing, feeding our school kids with Wyoming-raised produce, and generally integrating our own production into local economies. These efforts fit with other farm- to-table programs that make it easier to get food from producers to consumers, improve ways to brand Wyoming products, and expand our export markets.

All of these programs are hallmarks of what my administration will continue to emphasize in the coming years.

While it is unclear what the future holds for agriculture under a Biden administration, we should recognize opportunities that may emerge to build new sources of income for our farmers and ranchers.

Following the efforts, which began on a trip through the Thunder Basin with former Secretary Purdue, I have asked researchers at the University of Wyoming to help find ways that the good practices of our farmers and ranchers can lead to more compensation for their care of the land and other resources. I want you to know that I will always be a champion of any way in which we can keep our producers profitable, sustain the industry, and bring in new producers.

In the coming weeks, I will convene a strike force of industry leaders to outline opportunities and initiatives that can bolster our agricultural economies. One thing that became apparent with the demise of the Mountain States Lamb Co-op, is to give Wyoming what it needs to fight the antitrust practices of some of our industrial giants. Senate File 124 will equip the Attorney General with the latitude to investigate and seek appropriate relief from anticompetitive conduct that harms Wyoming businesses. This civil enforcement authority will also help us to defend all of our citizens when caught in the crossfire of multinational corporations. It is important legislation.

There is a lot more that we must do to advance agriculture. My administration is committed to building our capacities over the next several years. But, I wanted to thank you for the legislation you delivered last session that implements some of the recommendations from my task force on invasive species.

One special note of thanks to the folks at the State Fair. This past summer, the Board, and particularly, Executive Director Cortney Konkle and her staff, pulled off what only three other states were able to do; hold a full-on state fair and rodeo. You made Wyoming remember what summers are for.

Economic Development

The traditional legs of our economic stool are energy, tourism, and agriculture. But, that list is by no means finite.

We continue to see success as a leader in digital asset banking.

In September, we approved the first Special Purpose Depository Institution (SPDI) bank charter. It was Wyoming's first state bank charter in more than 14 years. We should continue our efforts to make the state the digital asset epicenter of the U.S. Our delegation and I remain committed to aggressively pushing for the necessary federal actions to assure Wyoming benefits from this important innovation that Wyoming pioneered.

The reformatted Wyoming Business Council had a busy year. With their work, Wyoming injected over $500 million directly into the state's economy. Here are three examples: The Energy Rebound Program that supported over 5,000 oil and gas jobs; The Connect Wyoming program brought broadband to over 12,000 Wyomingites; and, the Business Relief Programs, which provided hundreds of millions directly to Wyoming's main streets and small businesses.

I want to thank Senator Wasserburger for bringing forward Senate File 113, and Senator Ellis for bringing forward Senate File 116. These two pieces of legislation will continue the effort to modernize Wyoming economic development programs. They will also keep Wyoming competitive with other states that are attracting new industry and maximize efficiency of state government. I want to thank Wyoming banks who stepped up during these difficult times to help valuable clients stay afloat.

Healthcare and Human Services

Even with a warming picture on the economic front, Wyoming, unfortunately, continues to see far too many individuals struggling with mental health issues resulting in high suicide rates. There is no doubt that the stresses of this past year have compounded this critical issue.

Wyoming has stepped up our efforts to support individuals in crisis. We opened the first in-state suicide prevention hotline this summer, and it has taken more than 660 calls to date. Additionally, I have offered suicide prevention education to all the state employees and more than 5,000 of them have participated. But this is hardly enough.

I am especially concerned about an ongoing epidemic of suicide that has plagued our armed forces and our veterans.

Over the next few months, we will be partnering with other states in the Governor's Challenge to address veteran suicide. Work we began last year to address this issue in active duty service must also continue. Those who step forward for our country, to protect all that it is and represents, deserve nothing less. It is imperative that we have adequate mental health support to assist individuals who are in crisis, struggling with mental health and substance use disorders.

We are dedicated to continuing to seek better ways to address ongoing crises. But these services are not cheap, and we have already cut deeply, not by choice, but by necessity.

That is why state agencies are coordinating with local stakeholders to ensure that we can manage high-risk youth, allowing them to stay closer to their support systems at home, among other efforts to address these concerns.

The Health Care Task Force that emerged from our pandemic response continues to investigate ways to reduce costs and improve access to care for our state's residents. Already, Wyoming has expanded the capacity of telehealth to reach isolated and high-risk individuals. This diverse group of stakeholders will continue to work towards solutions that ensure Wyoming residents will have access to affordable healthcare.

Education

I want to leave you with perhaps the most pressing issue for this Legislature, which affects our most precious resource: our children.

The biggest elephant in the Capitol this year, is the future of Wyoming's K-12 education system. We must ensure that the next generation of Wyoming students will graduate with the tools necessary to succeed in the modern economy. This is a moral obligation.

How we get there, and how we afford it, is a question that is now before us. We have relied, for years, on a funding model that is no longer sustainable. The handwriting is on the wall. The can we kick down the road every year is broken. We have to deal with this issue.

While the Legislature is charged with fixing the funding shortfall for which we are facing, I urge you to consider this challenge broadly.

It is not clear that more money necessarily equals better education, or that less does either. And money lies at the root of the Campbell County decisions that currently guide our state's response to education. But here is the bottom line; we cannot simply wait until we are out of money before taking action. This is far more than a budget issue, and I want our stakeholders and our communities to be involved in establishing a plan and vision.

Who are the stakeholders? You, the public, the parents and students, the employers, and those who will benefit from the innovation and hard work of future generations are the stakeholders. This is important work and we must seek innovative solutions.

There is also important work to be done for our earliest learners and the current early childhood structure as well. We have studied this for over a decade. It is hard to hear the fact that Wyoming ranks 49th among states in the efficiency of its early childhood governance.

Though there have been many recommendations over time to address this looming concern we have made little or no change to our governance structure. There is a reason for that. Change is difficult, especially when practices becomes ingrained.

Currently, components of early childhood learning reside in four separate state agencies. And over the years, programs here in Wyoming have grown in communities under a structure, which is unwieldy, but familiar. The resulting confusion benefits some and confounds others. Some may see any change as a threat to autonomy, and to the independence of their program. But there is absolutely no reason why Wyoming should suffer an incoherent structure that does not leverage, and quite possibly may imperil, the resources we receive.

Last year, in search of a solution, I convened a task force with broad stakeholder representation to discuss early childhood governance. That task force brought forth thoughtful recommendations to reorganize state level programs and to provide much-needed leadership and coherence. The changes in HB63 will be a significant step forward for Wyoming.

You may remember, that from the very beginning of my administration, I have emphasized the importance of higher education in our state's economic health. Now is the time to focus some of their efforts, unleash their potential for closer collaboration, and greater economic growth.

Weeks ago, I, along with our community colleges and the University of Wyoming, announced an initiative: The Wyoming Innovation Network - WIN. It is an ambitious effort to supercharge Wyoming's post-secondary work by combining the best ideas of our remarkable community colleges with our cornerstone land grant university. WIN is in its infancy and currently developing its first priorities and outcomes by which it will prove its value to the state, but there is enormous promise.

This partnership among higher education will develop education initiatives necessary to strengthen the states workforce, promote entrepreneurship, and actively support economic growth and diversification. Moreover, it is a natural outgrowth of several efforts this state has undertaken over the past few years from Wyoming Works, and internships, to the Attainment Council and ENDOW.

It is the do of the "what" and the "why" that we have studied for so long.

Education is changing. Work is changing. People want, and need, more opportunities and approaches. Wyoming needs to respond. We know our financial challenges will likely necessitate it.

Closing

We have covered a lot. Thank you for your attention. In closing, Wyoming is growing.

Many counties in Wyoming have seen record real estate sales this past year as people look for better places to live and find those communities in our state.

The new residents love our mountains, our people, our way of life, and the fact that we are a conservative state dedicated to living within our means.

We are fortunate, in that respect, for the wisdom of our forbearers who saw fit to set aside a portion of our finite mineral wealth for the benefit of succeeding generations. Money does not fall from the sky, even if these days it seems the Federal Government wishes it so.

Such largess comes at the expense of our children and grandchildren. Here in Wyoming, we have a tradition anchored in the belief of building a better future. I do not know one successful rancher who is not a steward of resources.

We are faced with that challenge today.

Will we steward our resources, savings and all, so that our children can have a chance? Or, will we be so self-centered that we spend ourselves into oblivion and leave them with the bill?

We must address the issues I have spoken about here without delay. And we must keep our eye on the future. Remember, Wyoming is the place other states could have been if they had taken the time to do it right.

There are choices to be made. We can no longer stick our heads in the sand. What we do today can mean that the Wyoming we love, that many of us grew up in, and that all of us admire, remains. Or, it can become a husk of itself, if we take without putting back.

These next few years will be pivotal for Wyoming, and I intend to do my best to make sure our citizens are confident in their future, in their children's future, in the economic opportunities that abound, and in that special something that makes this truly the greatest state in the nation.

Let us seek to do the right thing, do it the right way, and do it right away.

May you have a productive session, and one future generations will look back upon with pride.

God Bless Wyoming. God Bless America and keep her free. And God Bless you, the people of Wyoming.

ADDRESS BY SPEAKER PRO TEAM OF THE HOUSE

MIKE GREEAR

Mr. Speaker, Minority floor leader, Mr. Floor Majority leader (that one's for Roy).

Members of the 66th Wyoming House of Representatives. You are one of the last remaining bastions of true representative democracy. We each represent approximately 9,000 people - our family, friends, neighbors, business associates, and person down the block we have never met. We are tasked with setting policy for the future of these people and the State of Wyoming. It is a task not suited for the fainthearted or a weak mind.

It takes a strong heart to know your center, to balance your values with those you represent, with your community, your region of the state and with the State of Wyoming. These differing value sets make our job difficult yet - that is your job - our job.

It takes a strong mind in this Political environment to block out the noise - the loudest voices - to listen to that inner voice of what is right for Wyoming, your constituents, your family, yourself.

With a strong and true heart and a strong focused mind each one of us must find our vision for the future. I took the long way down to Session this year, traveling from Worland to Buffalo over to Gillette and down to Cheyenne. I saw one example after another of the vision of those that came before us. Farms, cattle and sheep in pastures, coal mines, pump-jacks, a work over rig, windmills, trains filled with coal and all the accoutrements associated with the towns I pass thru. While nothing is more beautiful than a drive through Wyoming. We have to admit it is a harsh environment that requires a strong heart and mind to survive. I could not help but think of the vision of those that built this state. The economic vision, to settle the land, to commit capital to take a risk on various forms of economic development. The vision of building community: to build a courthouse to bring the rule of law, to build a school to ensure the education of our children, to build a hospital to care for our sick and on and on. Most of these things were done betting on the come - that is they bet on the vision of better future - a better Wyoming.

Each one of us needs to have vision. Each one of us will have different ideas, we are not - nor should we see things in the same way, but do not spend your time down here being against the work of those that came before us. Honor them by making their work better, by adding to it, by using your time - your heart and strong mind to find solutions to a path for a better Wyoming.

I would be remiss if I did not recognize my family, my wife Tiffany, son Seth, daughter Taylor and my grandsons Little Waylon and Weston Michael all of whom make my life worth living. If not for their support I would not be able to serve. If not for our collective dedication to making Wyoming better, the desire to serve would not exist. Also, if not for their encouragement around the first of every year to take my moody backside to Cheyenne and give them a break I would not be here.

Let me state one more time find your vision for your family, your friends, your community, and our state - find your vision for a better Wyoming.

Thank you.

ADDRESS BY MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER OF THE HOUSE
ALBERT SOMMERS

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Speaker Pro Tem, Majority Whip, Madam Minority Floor Leader, Distinguished guests, and Ladies and Gentlemen of the 66th. One of the greatest honors of my life has been to serve my constituents and the State of Wyoming in the Wyoming House /of Representatives. To serve this body as Majority Floor Leader is humbling.

I want to thank my wife Sue for her patience and for allowing me to serve you and the Great State of Wyoming. I would also like to thank all the family members, neighbors, friends, employers, and business partners who support each and all of our efforts in the Wyoming Legislature. Without them we could not serve.

I pledge to help maintain the integrity of this institution. The legislative process depends upon us building relationships with constituents, House members, Senate members, and the executive branch. At no time in my life have I seen this nation so divided. We must pull back from the abyss of hatred, a hatred that is spawned by fear. A fear that is fueled by the inability to discern the truth and by feeling our voices are not heard. Wyoming and this nation will survive this difficult time, if we turn toward our neighbors with compassion not hatred, if we move toward the better side of our nature not toward our worst habits. We must each stand firm in our beliefs but be willing to bend ever so slightly to solve our mutual problems.

We are here to solve problems and that can only be done by starting with conversation, building trust, and forming relationships. Building relationships is impossible if we lack civility and foment discord. We will disagree on many issues, but we must maintain our decorum and civility, to each other and to the public that we represent.

I pledge to the members of the 66th that I will work hard with the rest of Leadership and our staff to run a smooth legislative session.

May the 66th Legislature serve Wyoming in a manner that we, our predecessors, and our successors will be proud of.

Thank you.

ADDRESS BY SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE
ERIC BARLOW

Mr. Speaker Pro Tern, Mr. Majority Floor Leader, Madam Majority Floor Leader, Chief Clerk Harding, colleagues of the 66th Wyoming House of Representatives, guests joining us in the gallery, and for the first time, throughout the world as we livestream. It is my honor to serve you as Speaker of the House, and to serve with you as a representative in this House.

We gather together to do the work of the people of our precious Wyoming. What we do and how we do it matters. I am blessed to be part of this adventure with you.

To the voters of House District 3, thank you for the five times you have provided me this opportunity. I am humbled. This will be my last general session in the Wyoming House of Representatives, and I will continue to work to make my time an example of representative service. I hope each of us does.

To my wife, Kelly. Thank you for questioning less and praying more. For doing our work while I am away and making decisions that you shouldn't have had to make on your own. I love you. I need you. I appreciate you.

To my children- who saw me depart often and may have not understood, I hope you find something to cherish in what I did while I was away.

Colleagues, please be appreciative of those holding down the fort in your families, businesses and communities as you do this work. They enable your service. As a side note, I have found a bottle of champagne every weekend when I return home goes a long way.

To our legislative predecessors, I so appreciate the care with which you crafted a respectful, engaging and productive process and institution. It is resilient, yet open to adjustment. We carry forth now, leaning on your example, as we too will soon be memories on the wall. Let us pass on this House to our successors strengthened wherever possible.

To those colleagues who gave me special guidance and came along side during rough patches, I am forever grateful.

To our staff, wow. You continue to deliver and I, we, so appreciate you. To my Lord and Savior, my thanks for your eternal promise.

What do I hope to offer the 66th?

I will do my best to make sure you can effectively make your voice heard, and good ideas have the opportunity to get better. And that our traditions are honored, and the future of this House and Wyoming is well served.

If I can get those things done... all you will have to do is the real work. The reading of the bills, not sound bites. The debating of issues, not each other. The solving of challenges, not creating unintended ones. The business of keeping government out of the way most often and helpful when warranted. A path to being effective, not just right. Opportunities to better inform our own opinions. All of this while valuing each other.

As I reviewed the speeches of previous Speakers, I was struck by the policy themes that reoccurred: education, economic diversity, revenue, budget, infrastructure, healthcare, individual liberties, etc. Now while the policy themes were consistent, the questions posed were often much different. Why? Because they are all important, and as new information becomes available, and economic factors and citizen expectations change, so do our considerations and potential responses. I will not go through a list of personal policy priorities, nor pretend to make assumptions for the body, but instead will read the bills, listen to the debate, ask questions and vote on the bills that come before us... just like you will. The big ideas and the modest adjustments. Some will rise and others will be set aside for another day. Some will be gut wrenching and others quite comfortable. Let's listen, learn and consider possibilities. And most importantly, let's take care of one another. This is a team endeavor. While it only takes 31 votes to pass a bill, it takes all 60 of us to best understand it. Now let's be clear, that doesn't mean each of us needs to speak on everything. We will have some long days and encounter bumps along the way, please consider extending grace where possible. The next time it may be you who needs it.

It goes without saying we are in unprecedented times in so many ways. The COVID pandemic, political frustrations and foundational policy challenges to name a few.

However, I am confident the unique combination of our individual capabilities and the stability offered by this institution offers us every opportunity to do meaningful things. We have the owner's manual in our Constitution. We have a dedicated and professional staff to assist us. And we have the citizens of Wyoming providing guidance.

We are the people's house. They charged us to do this work. I am confident we can do it well. You can do it well.

Stay strong, stay Wyoming. Thank you.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY
MICHAEL K. DAVIS, CHIEF JUSTICE

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Governor and Madame First Lady, members of the 66th Legislature, elected officials, members of the judiciary, guests, and citizens of the Great State of Wyoming. It is, as always, an honor to speak with you today on behalf of the dedicated men and women of Wyoming's judicial branch of government. I wish we could all have been together in the beautifully restored House Chamber, as we were last year, but the pandemic has made that impossible. As you can see, I am speaking to you from the Supreme Court courtroom instead.

I am delighted to be able to report that the Wyoming judiciary is strong and healthy, despite the greatest challenges our branch of government, or any branch of our government, has endured in recent memory. Our greatest asset is our people, who are the best, and they have risen to and met the challenges.

I'd like to begin with a brief discussion of the unique nature of our branch and our constitutional duty to continue court operations.

Under both the Wyoming and United States Constitutions, the judicial branch has the obligation to hear and decide all cases that come before it in a timely manner. This is true whether those cases involve criminal charges, domestic violence protection, claims for damages, or any one of the many types of cases over which Wyoming courts have jurisdiction by virtue of the constitution or Wyoming statutes. The courts do not choose, and cannot choose, what cases are brought before them - they are simply mandated to move each and every case filed to a conclusion in a prompt manner that provides due process to the litigants. The phrase "The Rule of Law" is one that resonates with all of us. The courts apply, protect, preserve and defend the Rule of Law - not in some grand and sweeping manner, but in each and every case that comes before them, no matter how seemingly great or small it may seem to be. There is no such thing as an unimportant case to the litigants involved.

In each of the five years preceding the pandemic, there have been at least 150,000 filings in our circuit and district courts combined. Behind each filing is a person or persons, many if not most of whom are your constituents, and that number is pretty startling for a state with a population of slightly less than 570,000 people. The pandemic did not suddenly eliminate crime, or domestic violence, or stalking, or divorce, or commercial disputes that must be resolved in the courts. Crime is relentless and enduring, as is the ability of some people to inflict cruelty on others, including sometimes even their own children. Stress increases crime and domestic violence, and the pandemic has generated plenty of economic and other stress. In tough economic times, a commercial dispute that might have been worked out may end up in the courts, as the participants are cornered economically. But no matter how great the threat of illness or death the pandemic presented, court personnel had to carry on and move those cases to resolution.

And they did, each and every one of them. We at the Supreme Court consulted with the Wyoming Department of Health in early March of last year - we are very grateful for the time the Department has spent advising us. Working with the circuit and district judges, we all figured out as best we could what needed to be done to protect judges, employees, lawyers, and litigants at the time. We had nowhere near the information we have today at that point - we didn't know if masks were useful, we thought the virus could be readily spread by touching surfaces where it was left by an infected person, and we lived in a world that didn't even know how or have the means to treat someone infected with the coronavirus. We all saw fatalities and enduring and debilitating injuries inflicted on citizens in other countries, our own country, ultimately our own state.

So we all did what we could with what we had and what we knew. The Supreme Court, in consultation and agreement with the district and circuit courts, began issuing a series of recommendations for operations of the trial courts based on what we knew. The initial effort we all agreed upon was to stay in business while minimizing courthouse traffic to control transmission of the virus. We were also mindful of the measures required by the executive branch led by Governor Gordon, and we complied with them.

Fortunately, we were far ahead of neighboring states in already having technology which immediately allowed remote hearings in most cases. We already had Microsoft Teams (which is similar to Zoom) available at all levels of the branch, and we had equipment to allow in-courtroom and remote use, including Surface Hubs, which are computers with very large monitors. Participants who did not have an internet connection could call in from a cellular or regular telephone, so they could be heard, and the business of the courts could continue. This started immediately in mid-March as the virus spread into our state.

A good many judicial branch employees could work productively from home as well, because we already had a robust virtual private network to connect them to the court network. They were sent home to work, and they rotated in and out of the trial courts to minimize the risk of spreading an infection that neither we nor anyone else understood at the time.

Since then, we have been able to upgrade our technological capabilities to a level other states would envy with CARES Act funds, thanks to the efforts of the judges who serve on our courtroom technology committee, the superhuman efforts of our tiny but dedicated technology and fiscal staff, and excellent work by the contractor who worked on these projects.

Time marched on, and as we learned more about the virus, and we began to receive reliable information about how the disease was spread and how it could be contained, additional recommendations were issued in conjunction with the district and circuit courts. These recommendations led to a careful opening-up to in-person hearings in various cases, if the judge thought that was advisable, consulted with local health department officials, and had a plan to keep participants safe. This effort included personal protective equipment, masking, and social distancing for participants.

As a result of these efforts over the year since we began to feel the impact of the virus, the district and circuit courts have been able to keep up with their non-jury caseloads, so that there is no backlog. And, of course, a lot of work could be done in jury cases - there are pretrial hearings of various kinds that can be done remotely, and the judges did what they could, preparing the way for pretrial resolution or settlement, or the eventual jury trial if necessary.

But of course, jury trials are another matter. I'd like to take just a moment to remind you about the service jurors provide in our system. We draft them, as we used to draft young men into military service. We expect our jurors, from the age of majority up to 72, to report when they are summoned as jurors and to act as judges of the facts in jury trials. Many potential jurors are elderly - take Laramie County as an example. We have many retirees whose health is not perfect. Our trial courts could not expect these citizens to expose themselves to the risk of a deadly or at the very least debilitating disease unless we could assure them that they could serve safely.

It is not a choice whether to serve as a juror or not. In times when there was no pandemic abroad, jurors who failed to report for jury duty without an excuse were summoned to court and might be fined or even incarcerated. Those alternatives were unthinkable when you're talking about endangering the health of citizens who have done nothing wrong to assure jury trial for individuals who are often accused of unspeakable crimes. Our trial courts could not expect these citizens to expose themselves to the coronavirus - our branch had to assure them that they could serve safely without risking their health.

Over time, the Supreme Court, in conjunction with and by agreement, as always, with the district and circuit judges, developed recommendations for the conduct of jury trials. All court systems in this nation were struggling with the same issues, and a great deal was learned from their successes and failures.

Each of our trial courts had unique challenges - no two courthouses are the same, and often space for social distancing is scarce. Infection rates varied from county to county. But over time, the trial courts have been able to schedule and to resume holding criminal and civil jury trials at both the district and circuit court levels. I want to make it clear that this was done through the extraordinary efforts of the district and circuit judges, and their excellent staffs, and the clerks of district court. I would also point out that by no means do all cases set for trial actually go to trial. The vast majority do not, because a firm trial date often leads to a plea agreement or a civil settlement. Our system is structured around that reality - if every case went to trial, we, like every other court system in the country, would be overwhelmed. We can expect what may in some districts be a backlog of jury cases to steadily reduce as some cases are tried and others are resolved by agreement.

I would take just a moment to compliment the attorneys and citizens who have participated in jury trials. Complaints from either have been rare, although there is some risk to anyone who might participate in a jury trial during the pandemic. I would also like to recognize the court personnel who daily expose themselves to some risk of infection, including the clerks of district court, who, although they are not technically judicial branch employees, are vital to the conduct of court business.

So to summarize this part of my address, non-jury cases are not backlogged in the trial courts, and our excellent trial judges are cutting away at the limited backlog of jury trials, which will go away over time by trial or settlement. Wyoming courts are open, have always been open, and will remain open for the citizens of Wyoming.

I will just briefly comment on the operations of the Supreme Court. As an appellate court, we do not conduct trials - we instead review the record of trials conducted in the district courts, and occasionally the circuit courts, to determine if there is any reversible error in their proceedings. Practically this has meant that we were able to continue our work with little disruption, since we do not conduct trials and do not summon juries. During March and April of 2020, we decided cases on the briefs without oral arguments from attorneys. But beginning in May, we began to hold arguments by video. We prefer in-person arguments, but we were able to have a meaningful dialogue about cases with counsel by video, and we continue to do so. Some attorneys have indicated that they actually prefer video argument, because it eliminates the need for them to travel. We will see how the COVID experience impacts our future.

In any event, we are up to date on our appellate decisions, and we have no reason to believe that we will not continue to receive a substantial number of appeals and decide them in a very timely manner. I would put our time to disposition of appeals up against that of any appellate court anywhere.

The Supreme Court is also charged with supporting the trial courts, and we have certainly done that in these troubled times. Court administration and two justices meet weekly with the presidents of the district and circuit judge conferences to keep ahead of coronavirus issues. We have been able to help the trial courts out with personal protective equipment and various research resources on how the courts of other states are managing during the pandemic. At one point, our staff obtained hand sanitizer that came in gallon jugs bearing the logo of a vodka distillery, which they transferred to applicators. They did this in our library, which has been closed to the public. I only know about this from watching Breaking Bad, but with our people masked and gowned up and filling bottles, I thought the operation looked a lot like the meth labs on that show. Then our staff delivered the PPE and sanitizer to the trial courts around the state.

Our building has remained closed to the public. I think we all look forward to the day when we can reopen and offer tours to adults and students again. We were compelled to close the Judicial Learning Center that was funded in part by this body and in part by private donations until the pandemic is under control. The halls of our building, even when it is open, are usually as quiet as a mausoleum, and I think we all long to hear the young voices of students shattering the stillness with their excited chatter as they visit the Learning Center.

Our branch has also been responsible for assuring access to justice for the least financially fortunate among us. The pandemic has hit the poor harder than anyone. The Access to Justice Commission, Equal Justice Wyoming, Legal Aid of Wyoming, and other Wyoming civil legal service providers, collaborated to complete a state-wide Civil Legal Needs Assessment. Having long known that needs of Wyoming's economically disadvantaged citizens far exceed available legal resources, the collaborators contracted with Datacorp, a Wyoming company, to collect qualitative and quantitative data to help policy makers and legal service providers more fully understand Wyoming's low-income population, its civil legal needs, and how those needs are distributed across the state. The Needs Assessment confirmed that the area of greatest need centers around family law. However, new food insecurity and employment data revealed an emerging impact of the COVID pandemic on the prevalence of landlord/tenant, estate management, domestic violence and other issues. The Assessment, which was made public in August 2020, can be found on the Supreme Court Access to Justice Commission's webpage.

The Supreme Court continues to move forward with development of the Chancery Court, a specialized business/complex litigation court established by legislation in the 2019 session. The Court, under the leadership of Justice Kate

Fox and with the hard work of judges and attorneys who serve on her Chancery Court Committee, is poised to complete the work necessary to bring the Chancery Court on-line within the time frames required by statute. However, in light of the financial issues facing the State, there is legislation pending that would allow certain sitting district judges skilled in the resolution of commercial disputes to act as chancery court judges until our state gets on its feet financially again. Other district judges would help those judges out with other parts of their caseload. If what I hear from the blockchain experts is true, there should be a significant increase in the overall workload the district judges have agreed to take on, and we thank them for stepping up.

We expect to have a case management system and electronic filing system in place for Chancery Court by the end of this year. The district judges can use their own courtrooms until one or more permanent chancery court judges can be selected and permanent facilities constructed. In any event, one way or another, the chancery court will be open for business, with electronic filing, by December 2021.

Our branch has also, through the concerted efforts of a very small applications staff, upgraded the case management system in our circuit courts, the courts which handle the largest volume of cases, ranging from traffic tickets to high misdemeanors. There was nothing wrong with the old system, called Full Court, but it was no longer maintained by the manufacturer and had to be upgraded to a new web-based system. Our small staff developed a process for migrating data and standing up the new system, which is called Full Court Enterprise. Training and other activities amounted to about 100 man-hours for each of the 24 circuit courts, not to mention about 500 hours to develop a manual for training the circuit court clerks. The manual developed for use by the circuit court clerks has been requested by other states, including Montana, since it outlines a highly efficient model for standing up that system.

The same small staff has begun the process of replacing WYUSER, the district court case management system, with Full Court Enterprise, and will begin to pilot that system in selected courts in July, and gradually move into all the other district courts after that.

Thanks to an appropriation in the last session, we have the funds required to implement a state-of-the-art electronic filing system in the district courts after we begin standing up Full Court Enterprise, and we have entered into a contract with File and Serve Express for that purpose. We formed a committee composed principally of attorneys with experience in electronic filing in our Supreme Court, the federal court here in Wyoming, and in other states, and they selected File and Serve Express. Other states using the program gave it rave reviews. The program will offer a variety of services for electronic filers, including collection and transmission of filing fees to the district court clerks, all on-line.

I know we would all like to see the district court e-filing system in place sooner than it is projected to be. In 2019, at the suggestion of a member of your leadership, we commissioned a study to be done by a reputable firm that has consulted with courts around the country and the world. This firm came highly recommended by the court administrator in Maryland - it had done work for that state.

The company, Justice Management Institute, concluded that our branch was on the right track to get to digital courts. It also noted, however, that based on efforts in other states, our small IT and applications staff is short at least eight employees to complete the necessary work in the time frame we have planned. My money is on our small staff to meet the goals it has set, due to its extreme dedication and skill. I see absolutely no chance of funding for additional employees to help these folks out, and therefore the timetable will, at best, be what is currently projected.

At the same time, the Supreme Court electronic filing system, the first of its kind in the nation, has reached the end of its life, although it still works pretty well. That system, called C-Track, is now used in 19 court systems around the country, but ours is out of date. In the last session, you appropriated $1,741,000 dollars to replace the system, which cannot be upgraded. We have not yet spent those funds because, as I will shortly explain, we do not know for sure if that appropriation will survive these difficult times. In the meantime, we continue to hold our breath and hope for the best, and so far, so good.

I want to keep this speech as short as I can, and so I won't go into all the detail I might. I would simply instead refer the curious to our judicial branch website. There you will find updates on e-filing, the chancery court, all pandemic orders we have entered, the operating plans of each and every district and circuit court, the study I just referred to, and a wealth of other information. And our staff is also available to speak with you and help you find what you might be interested in.

Now is the time to speak of the other great issue of this time, which is probably both a partial result of the pandemic and partially an independent product of the nature of our state's economy, and that is of course the revenue downturn that affects all three branches of our government. As I begin to talk about how our branch of government has tightened its belt, I would again like to just touch on the nature of the judicial branch and its operations.

As I have already said, the judicial branch has no control over the number of type of cases that come before it. Those decisions are made to some extent by this body, which decides what conduct will violate the law and become crimes. They are also made by the county and district attorneys, who prosecute crimes, and who pursue juvenile cases, including actions to prevent abuse and neglect of helpless children who cannot protect themselves. Those filing decisions are also made by entities or individuals ranging from the unwed mother who must seek child support for her children, or the spouse who can no longer remain in a marital relationship, or a multi-national corporation which has a commercial dispute with another similar entity based on a mineral development contract with millions of dollars at stake.

Once those cases hit our system, judges have no option but to resolve them in accordance with the law and the constitution. They cannot say "I'm sorry, Mr. Prosecutor, but there have just been too many murder cases this year. You'll have to let this accused person go for now and try again later when things look up economically." Justice must be done in a timely manner, for truly, justice delayed is for all practical purposes, justice denied.

I also want to point out that the entire Wyoming judicial branch budget is less than three per cent of the overall state budget. Our branch budget is composed of 92% personnel costs. Our employees, and the employees of the elected clerks of district court, allow our courts to continue to function and to fulfill their constitutional and statutory duties.

I would also point out that our branch actually has a system to determine whether we have the right number of judges and circuit court clerks to handle their caseloads - no more and no less. Periodically, we retain an independent contractor statistician who does work for courts around the country, and that person conducts a weighted workload study to weigh the cases the circuit and district courts have. This is not cheap - it costs about two hundred and fifty thousand dollars per court level. Once the study is complete, we are then able to apply those weights to the actual cases in the system, and to determine if we have too few, too many, or just enough personnel, including judges. And as the workload changes, as by adoption of new statutes adding to the work to be done by the courts, we eventually have to have a new study done, which we can then use for a few years until things change again. Before the pandemic, we were already short about four district judges according to the workload study, and that was before they agreed to take on chancery court duties.

There has been discussion in the executive branch of cutting ten percent of its budget. A cut of that magnitude in the judicial branch would eliminate the entire budget of eight courts. We most assuredly do not have eight courts to spare, given what has been shown by our weighted caseload studies. A 20% across the board cut would wipe out the budgets of sixteen courts.

My simple math shows that 10% of 3% (actually less) is 3 tenths of one percent. That would be more than enough to cripple a Wyoming judicial branch that is highly functional, but it could not contribute meaningfully to resolution of our state's budget problems. I will suggest that it would only add to them by sending a message to companies thinking about relocating to our state that a functional court system is not a priority, and by creating backlogs of cases that would have to be resolved later.

But all levels of the judiciary have taken steps to cut what they can. At the Supreme Court, we early on took the following steps:

- We eliminated or combined two positions in the Chancery Court.
- We were able to eliminate and combine two positions at the Supreme Court.
- Although it was embarrassing to have to do so, we have given notice to the National Center for State Courts that we will no longer be able to pay our dues, which are about $200,000 per biennium.
- We have reduced operational costs and contracts, and expenditures for print materials and subscriptions for legal research.
- Contracts have been terminated if they could be.
- We have reduced court automation contracts, such as one for judge tools that would have helped make hearings more efficient. We also cut our planned hardware replacement program.

These reductions did not cut fat - our operations will eventually suffer as a result of these. Like a reduction in the rations of soldiers, these cuts may not cause an immediate failure of justice, but they would ultimately weaken the system in ways that would be unfortunate for our citizens.

The circuit courts have little to cut from their budgets, but they have done what they can. Two full-time magistrate positions have been eliminated. The circuit judges have also stopped using part-time magistrates. The magistrates covered certain court activities when the judges were unavailable. Because of the excellent technology we have, the judges will cover for each other remotely. That means that when a two in the morning request for a search warrant in a driving under the influence case comes in, a circuit judge in Sweetwater County may be responding to a Campbell County case.

The budgets of the district courts are separate from that of the Supreme Court. The district judges also have cut what they can from those budgets, but more significantly, as I have already said and if this body approves, they have selected three judges skilled in commercial case resolution to serve as chancery court judges until things improve economically and one or more permanent chancery court judges can be selected. I repeat that this is not an insignificant sacrifice - if predictions by prominent legislators as to the use of the chancery court are correct, there will be considerable work for those three judges and the rest of the district judges who will have to help them with their routine caseload. Moreover, their efforts will make it possible to open up the chancery court by the end of the year, which I am told will tend to spur economic development through, among other things, available resolution of blockchain controversies.

Added together, these changes add up to a reduction branch-wide of 3.9%. I hope that we will be able to preserve the funds made available for district and chancery court electronic filing, which I have already described, and for replacement of the Supreme Court's electronic filing system. Eliminating funding for e-filing in the district and chancery courts would result in additional delay in getting to digital courts. And, if the Supreme Court's system fails without a replacement available, we will be back to operating as we did over a decade ago, with paper. I do not believe that would be impressive to business organizations sizing up this state as a possible location for their operations, and it would be a definite step back.

I would like to touch on one more issue that relates to the relationship between our two branches of government. I want to emphasize that we could improve our communications, and our branch, which is poorly understood, could and should take time to explain its process to you. There seem to be a great many inaccurate rumors about court operations in this day and age. If you need to know the facts, there is at least one courthouse in every county, with a circuit and district court based there. Although neither judges nor clerks of court can comment on a pending or resolved case, they can and will tell you, as representatives of the people, what's going on in general terms of court operations. For example, are the circuit courts hearing landlord tenant cases? Are divorces being heard in the district court? The answer is "yes, they are." If you don't know whom to contact to learn more, please feel free to email me or call my office, and I will refer your inquiry to the proper person for a definitive answer.

As I already mentioned, we maintain an excellent judicial branch website that is intended to let the public know what is going on in our branch. It is free and open to the public, and of course to you. Ours is a data-driven branch, and we store a great deal of data there.

At a meeting of the National Conference of Chief Justices a while back, I learned from the Chief Justice of the Illinois Supreme Court that that court holds what it calls a "Law School for Legislators" to inform Illinois lawmakers about the Illinois judicial branch. Our own Justice Keith Kautz, who manages judicial education for our branch, and who has spoken frequently to civic organizations, is prepared to provide a program of about one hour or so to any legislator interested in it, with assistance from our court staff and the circuit and district judges. We would record and store this on our website for future viewing. I hope we can work something out to make that available to you.

I would add one last comment. As I have said more than once, our branch of government is going through what may be the most difficult time in its history. Our trial courts and trial judges are being tested by challenges from the pandemic and from the current economic downturn and they have met them. I would put our trial courts' performance in the pandemic - and before - up against that of the courts of any state, despite our small budget and chronically overworked staff.

The point I'm angling toward is that this may not be the best time to legislatively tinker with something that is working, particularly without consulting with the people who do the work of the courts. They are like a military unit that is pinned down by powerful forces, yet is holding its ground against all odds with few resources. In other words, this is not a great time for untested experimentation.

I remind you that everything our courts do is governed by the constitutional requirement to provide due process. Due process just means giving notice of what is happening in a case, and giving people affected in that case a fair opportunity to be heard before a decision is made. Although our courts strive to be as efficient as possible, our constitution does not focus on efficiency - it focuses on assuring that the Rule of Law governs, and that everyone receives a fair process that protects the rights of all concerned. Not everyone is happy with court outcomes - you can pretty much figure at least fifty per cent of litigants - those who lost - will not be. Sometimes both sides lose. Satisfaction and happiness are simply not byproducts of the judicial process. Fortunately, respect is and has been a by-product of the process. Most often, those who are disappointed by the outcome of a case can still recognize that they were heard and treated fairly.

I have seen draft legislation that seems intended to address perceived problems in court operations that don't actually exist, and which may run into constitutional and statutory obstacles according to Legislative Service Office commentary. Some of the drafts seem to have been created in a vacuum of information about actual court processes and what is happening on the ground. I can tell you that after over forty years as a trial lawyer, a trial judge, and a Supreme Court justice, I do not know enough to suggest changes to the operation of the trial courts without talking to the judges and court personnel doing the work.

I would simply suggest that the district and circuit judges are happy to talk about their operations with legislators, as is our court. Even a process that has been operating successfully in the Anglo-American countries for centuries can always be improved, I'll grant you that. But I can't help but believe that knowing how it does operate and why it does so might be a good starting place, and that the knowledge base of a disgruntled litigant or rumor may not be the best launching pad for meaningful change. If you inquire, I think you'll find that our branch is in fact in very good shape compared to that of our sister states, and that the employees and judges daily enforce the Rule of Law while still moving cases through the system promptly so that justice is not denied.

Before I close, I wanted to take the usual step of describing transitions in our branch. Retired District Judge Art Hanscom, who sat in Albany County for many years, died on February 20, 2020. Judge Bob Castor, long-time circuit judge sitting in Albany County retired, and Judge Rob Sanford replaced him on July 4, 2020 - that's right, on the 4th of July, literally. Long-term Laramie County Circuit Judge Denise Nau retired, and she was replaced by Judge Sean Chambers on July 6, 2020. Judge Vincent Case, who sat in Converse County for many years, retired, and Judge Clark Allan took his place in January of 2021. Sixth Judicial District Judge Nick Deegan, long-time public servant and judge, and a former member of the Wyoming House of Representatives, retired and was replaced by Judge Stuart Healy in December of 2020.

We thank all of the judges who have served for their many years of faithful service, and we thank all of those who have undertaken to fill their very large shoes for their willingness to do so in this extremely challenging time. You all have your work cut out for you.

We have our own transitions at the Wyoming Supreme Court. Court Administrator Lily Sharpe, who many of you know from her service at LSO, and who made us all smile with her ever-ready and infectious laugh, retired in February. After an exhaustive process that included a number of excellent in and out of state applicants, our general counsel Elisa Butler was selected to be our new Court Administrator. She has been a joy to work with, and I know she will be reaching out to you, if you don't reach out to her first, to see how she can assist you in your work.

I have more good news to close with. This will be the last time I have the privilege of making a State of the Judiciary Address to this body. If we were meeting in person, I'm sure that would have drawn some applause because I have talked for quite a while today. I will reach the age of mandatory retirement before you convene in 2022, and so Justice Kate Fox will take over as Chief Justice on July 1 of this year to assure a smooth transition. Justice Fox will become the second woman Chief Justice in Wyoming history. She has basically served as a deputy chief since I became Chief Justice, no doubt in an effort to try to keep me from making mistakes, and she will be able to take over seamlessly mid-year. Our State and our branch will be fortunate to have such a great Chief Justice.

For my part, I want to thank you for the consideration you have shown me, the Supreme Court, and the judicial branch. The founders of our republic and our great state intended for there to be tension between the three branches of government, so that we would all be keeping an eye on each other to preserve our democracy, and to uphold the Rule of Law. That tension, which we have in a healthy measure, has not prevented an appropriately cordial and respectful relationship between us, and the rest of our branch and I are very grateful for that mutual respect.

Thank you again for the opportunity to speak with you. You face unprecedented challenges this session and beyond, but we all know you are more than equal to the enormous task before you. Thank you for your selfless service. Good luck, and Godspeed.

Thank you.

"[UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING CRYPTOCURRENCY STAKING PROGRAM]"

Section 340.

(a) There is appropriated four million dollars (4,000,000.00) from the strategic investments and projects account to the University of Wyoming to operate and maintain nodes and staking pools for not less than three (3) publicly tradeable cryptocurrencies. The university shall only expend funds appropriated under this section in accordance with a final, approved plan required by subsection (c) of this section. The university shall provide public access to the staking pools and nodes and facilitate operation of the blockchains. Fees and revenues generated from the operation of the nodes and staking pools shall first be expended to cover any costs of operation and administration. All fees and revenues generated in excess of the costs of operation and administration shall be deposited in the strategic investments and projects account up to four million dollars ($4,000,000.00) and thereafter shall be expended to support blockchain programs and activities at the university and community colleges throughout the state. Expenditure of the funds appropriated from the strategic investments and projects account by this section is conditioned upon a match of funds in the ratio of one dollar ($1.00) of appropriated funds to not less than two dollars ($2.00) of matching funds from the university's unobligated reserve accounts or from any private entity donating funds or cryptocurrency for this purpose. The state treasurer shall make transfers to the university under this section not later than the end of the calendar quarter following the quarter during which the matching funds are received by the university. For the purpose of calculating the matching amount only, the state treasurer shall use the value of any donated cryptocurrency based on its fair market value at the time the donation is received by the university. The university is authorized to expend not more than four million dollars ($4,000,000.00) from its unobligated reserve accounts for matching funds. The appropriation from the strategic investments and projects account shall not be transferred or expended for any other purpose.

(b) The cryptocurrency advisory council is hereby created and shall be comprised of:

(i) The co-chairmen of the select committee on blockchain, financial technology and digital innovation technology who shall co-chair the cryptocurrency advisory council;

(ii) The Wyoming chief investment officer or his designee;

(iii) Three (3) members appointed by the governor with relevant knowledge and expertise in cryptocurrencies and blockchain technology who are not serving as liaisons to the select committee on blockchain, financial technology and digital innovation technology;

(iv) One (1) member appointed by the president of the University of Wyoming.

(c) The university shall develop a plan for operation of the program established by subsection (a) of this section. The plan shall be submitted to the cryptocurrency advisory council for review and, after review, shall be submitted to the governor for approval. All decisions relating to program operation shall be overseen by the advisory council.

(d) Meeting facilities, secretarial or clerical assistance, supplies and other assistance as the advisory council may require in the performance of its duties shall be provided by the University of Wyoming.

(e) The University of Wyoming and the cryptocurrency advisory council shall report to the joint appropriations committee and select committee on blockchain, financial technology and digital innovation technology on the status and development of the program created by this section not later than October 1, 2021."

"[UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING CRYPTOCURRENCY STAKING PROGRAM]

Section 340.

(a) There is appropriated four million dollars (4,000,000.00) from the strategic investments and projects account to the University of Wyoming to operate and maintain nodes and staking pools for not less than three (3) publicly tradeable cryptocurrencies. The university shall only expend funds appropriated under this section in accordance with a final, approved plan required by subsection (c) of this section. The university shall provide public access to the staking pools and nodes and facilitate operation of the blockchains. Fees and revenues generated from the operation of the nodes and staking pools shall first be expended to cover any costs of operation and administration. All fees and revenues generated in excess of the costs of operation and administration shall be deposited in the strategic investments and projects account up to four million dollars ($4,000,000.00) and thereafter shall be expended to support blockchain programs and activities at the university and community colleges throughout the state. Expenditure of the funds appropriated from the strategic investments and projects account by this section is conditioned upon a match of funds in the ratio of one dollar ($1.00) of appropriated funds to not less than two dollars ($2.00) of matching funds from the university's unobligated reserve accounts or from any private entity donating funds or cryptocurrency for this purpose. The state treasurer shall make transfers to the university under this section not later than the end of the calendar quarter following the quarter during which the matching funds are received by the university. For the purpose of calculating the matching amount only, the state treasurer shall use the value of any donated cryptocurrency based on its fair market value at the time the donation is received by the university. The university is authorized to expend not more than four million dollars ($4,000,000.00) from its unobligated reserve accounts for matching funds. The appropriation from the strategic investments and projects account shall not be transferred or expended for any other purpose.

(b) The cryptocurrency advisory council is hereby created and shall be comprised of:

(i) The co-chairmen of the select committee on blockchain, financial technology and digital innovation technology who shall co-chair the cryptocurrency advisory council;

(ii) The Wyoming chief investment officer or his designee;

(iii) Three (3) members appointed by the governor with relevant knowledge and expertise in cryptocurrencies and blockchain technology who are not serving as liaisons to the select committee on blockchain, financial technology and digital innovation technology;

(iv) One (1) member appointed by the president of the University of Wyoming.

(c) The university shall develop a plan for operation of the program established by subsection (a) of this section. The plan shall be submitted to the cryptocurrency advisory council for review and, after review, shall be submitted to the governor for approval. All decisions relating to program operation shall be overseen by the advisory council.

(d) Meeting facilities, secretarial or clerical assistance, supplies and other assistance as the advisory council may require in the performance of its duties shall be provided by the University of Wyoming.

(e) The University of Wyoming and the cryptocurrency advisory council shall report to the joint appropriations committee and select committee on blockchain, financial technology and digital innovation technology on the status and development of the program created by this section not later than October 1, 2021."

"Section 1. W.S. 18-3-504(c), 19-14-101(a), 35-1-428 by creating a new subsection (c) and 42-2-103(c) are amended to read:

18-3-504. Powers and duties generally.

(c) Each board of county commissioners shall provide for the burial or cremation of the human remains of any deceased person not receiving personal opportunities with employment responsibilities (POWER) assistance, supplemental security income or Medicaid under the Wyoming Public Assistance and Social Services Act at the time of death and without sufficient means in his own estate or other resources to provide burial or cremation. The amount paid under this subsection for burial or cremation shall not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500.00). Each board shall account for the county expenses incurred under this subsection during a fiscal biennium. By August 1 of each even numbered year, a county may request reimbursement by the department of family services for the expenses incurred under this subsection for the preceding fiscal biennium. The department of family services shall reimburse the expenses in accordance with W.S. 35-1-428(c).

19-14-101. Burial of indigents.

(a) The board of county commissioners of each county shall provide for the preparation of the body and transmittal to and burial in the veteran's cemetery of any other than a dishonorably discharged veteran of the armed forces of the United States who served on behalf of the United States in any war or conflict as defined in section 101, title 38, United States Code and who dies leaving insufficient funds to defray the necessary funeral expenses. The amount expended for transporting the body shall not exceed five hundred dollars

($500.00). The amount paid under this section for burial shall not exceed one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500.00). Each board shall account for the county expenses incurred under this subsection during a fiscal biennium. By August 1 of each even numbered year, a county may request reimbursement by the department of family services for the expenses incurred under this subsection for the preceding fiscal biennium. The department of family services shall reimburse the expenses in accordance with W.S. 35-1-428(c).

35-1-428. Fees for copies and searches; surcharges.

(c) In addition to the fees imposed by department of health rules under subsection (a) of this section and the surcharges imposed under subsection (b) of this section, the department shall collect a surcharge of five dollars ($5.00) for each copy of a death certificate issued pursuant to this article. Revenues collected from the surcharge imposed under this subsection shall be deposited by the department in the indigent persons burial account, which is hereby created. All funds within the account shall be invested by the state treasurer and all investment earnings from the account shall be deposited in the account. Subject to legislative appropriation, the department of family services shall disperse one-half (1/2) of the funds within the account to counties that made a request for reimbursement under W.S. 18-3-504(c) or 19-14-101(a) and the remaining one-half (1/2) of funds shall be available to the department of family services for expenses incurred under W.S. 42-2-103(c). If a legislative appropriation is insufficient to reimburse all county reimbursement requests, the department of family services shall disperse the available funds so that each county that made a reimbursement request receives equal percentage reimbursements.

42-2-103. Provision of assistance and services; duties of department; burial assistance; department of health state supplemental security income program.

(c) Notwithstanding any other provision of this article and subject to the availability of funds, the department shall pay the burial or cremation expenses of any recipient of aid under the personal opportunities with employment responsibilities (POWER) program, supplemental security income or Medicaid at the time of his death and without sufficient means in his own estate or other resources to provide burial or cremation. The amount paid under this subsection shall not exceed one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) after consideration of funds available to the recipient from all other sources. In determining eligibility under this subsection, the department shall not consider as available funds, an amount up to or equal to one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500.00) of the corpus of a Medicaid qualifying trust meeting the requirements of W.S. 42-4-113. No board of county commissioners shall be responsible for any burial or cremation expenses in excess of the amount paid under this subsection. Burial or cremation expenses under this subsection shall not include those expenses relating to cemetery costs.

Section 2. This act shall only apply to expenses incurred under W.S. 18-3-504(c), 19-14-101(a) and 42-2-103(c) on or after the effective date of this act." ZWONITZER

(b) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, a probationer, parolee or person committed to the department and who is supervised by the department shall pay the fees specified in this subsection. The department may reduce or waive any fee required by this subsection or suspend the monthly payment of the supervisory fee if it determines that the payment would cause the person a significant financial hardship. The fees to be paid to the department shall be as follows:

(i) A supervisory fee of not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per month and not more than three hundred dollars ($300.00) per year, prorated at not less than twenty-five dollars ($25.00) per month for the number of months under supervision;

(ii) A drug screen testing fee of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) per month for the number of months under supervision to help offset the cost of drug screening;

(iii) A transfer fee of not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) to help offset the cost of transferring supervision."

(a) Any person whose real property is subject to, or is benefitted by, a restrictive covenant that was removed under W.S. 34-1-155 and who believes the restrictive covenant is valid, may petition the court having jurisdiction over the property. The petition shall state the grounds upon which relief is requested, and shall be supported by the affidavit of the petitioner or his attorney setting forth a concise statement of the facts upon which the petition is based. The clerk of court shall assign a case number to the petition and obtain from the petitioner a filing fee of thirty-five dollars ($35.00). Upon the filing of the petition the following shall apply:

(i) The court may enter its order, which may be granted ex parte, directing the person who filed and recorded the instrument to appear before the court at a time no earlier than six (6) nor later than fifteen (15) days following the date of service of the petition, and order the person to show cause, if any, why the relief provided in this subsection should not be granted. Service under this section shall be made in accordance with the rules of civil procedure;

(ii) If, following a hearing on the matter the court determines that the restrictive covenant under subsection (a) of this section is valid and enforceable, the court shall issue an order so stating and awarding damages of up to one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) as determined by the court or actual damages, whichever is greater, costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to the petitioner to be paid by the person who filed and recorded the instrument;

(iii) If the court determines that the restrictive covenant is void and unenforceable, the court shall issue an order so stating and shall award costs and reasonable attorneys' fees to the person who filed and recorded the instrument to be paid by the petitioner." CRAGO

(b) If an animal control facility euthanizes household pets, the animal control facility shall:

(i) Adopt a policy for euthanasia that complies with the applicable provisions of this section;

(ii) Adopt a euthanasia training program;

(iii) Require each person who conducts or assists with euthanasia to attend the euthanasia training program required by paragraph (ii) of this subsection at least one (1) time every two (2) years; and

(iv) Keep a record of training dates and all attendees.

(c) The requirements imposed on animal control facilities by subsection (b) of this section are in addition to the requirements imposed on animal euthanasia technicians in W.S. 33-30-223 and 33-30-224.

Section 2. W.S. 6-3-1001(a) by creating new paragraph (i) and by renumbering paragraphs (i) through (iii) as (ii) through (iv) and 6-3-1003 by creating a new subsection (d) is amended to read:

6-3-1001. Definitions.

(a) As used in this article:

(i) "Animal control facility" means a public or private facility the primary purpose of which is to provide temporary care for stray, surrendered or neglected household pets;

~~(i)~~ (ii) "Costs of the animal's impoundment" means all costs incurred by the impounding entity in providing necessary food and water, veterinary attention and treatment for any animal which is the subject of a violation of this article;

~~(i)~~ (iii) "Household pet" means any privately owned dog, cat, rabbit, guinea pig, hamster, mouse, gerbil, ferret, bird, fish, reptile, amphibian, invertebrate or any other species of domesticated animal sold, transferred or retained for the purpose of being kept as a pet in or near a house. "Household pet" shall not include any livestock;

~~(iii)~~ (iv) "Livestock" means horses, mules and asses, rabbits, llamas, cattle, swine, sheep, goats, poultry, or other animal generally used for food or in the production of food or fiber, working animals and guard animals actively engaged in the protection or management of livestock. Bison are considered livestock unless otherwise designated by the Wyoming livestock board and the Wyoming game and fish commission.

6-3-1003. Other misdemeanors involving animal abuse; prohibition on manner of destruction of animals; attending fowl or dog fights; keeping household pets in unsanitary conditions.

(d) An animal control facility shall not destroy an animal by the use of a high-altitude decompression chamber, carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide or any nonanesthetic inhalant." ZWONITZER

"1-12-704 Burden of proof.

Except as provided in W.S. 1-12-705(a)(ii) with respect to defamation actions, in any action to compel disclosure of news information, the journalist asserting a privilege under W.S. 1-12-701 shall have the burden of proving the existence of the privilege.

1. Exceptions allowing compelled disclosure.

(a) There is no privilege under W.S. 1-12-701 if either of the following conditions is met:

(i) Failure to disclose the news information will create an imminent risk of death or serious bodily harm;

(ii) In a defamation action where a person seeking disclosure of news information which would otherwise be privileged under W.S. 1-12-701 can demonstrate that the news information will lead to evidence that is relevant to an element of the defamation claim.

1-12-706 Waiver.

A journalist waives the privilege under W.S. 1-12-701 if the journalist voluntarily discloses or consents to disclosure of the news information.

1-12-707 Definitions.

(a) As used in this act:

(i) "Journalist" means any person who is professionally engaged in gathering, preparing, writing, editing, filming, taping, photographing or broadcasting news on a radio or television station licensed by the federal communications commission or for publication in or with a newspaper, magazine, news media, press association, wire service, website or other professional medium or agency that has as one of its principal functions the processing and researching of news intended for publication. "Journalist" includes any person who is an employee of or who is otherwise affiliated with a medium or agency that has as one of its principal functions the processing and researching of news intended for publication and includes any student enrolled at the University of Wyoming or a Wyoming community college who, regardless of pay, otherwise meets the requirements of this paragraph.

(i) "News information" means:

(A) Any written, oral, pictorial, photographic or electronically recorded information or communication concerning local, national or worldwide events or other matters of public concern or public interest or affecting the public welfare; and

(B) The identity of the source of the information.

(b) "This act" means W.S. 1-12-701 through 1-12-707."

Section 8.

(a) The chairman of the management council of the legislature shall appoint three (3) members of the management council and the governor shall appoint three (3) members of the state building commission or their designees to create a subcommittee to jointly oversee development of the design plans, construction of the interpretive exhibits and wayfinding in the capitol, the capitol extension and the Herschler building. The subcommittee shall:

(i) In developing recommendations for design and construction documents to the interpretive exhibits, be guided by the schematic design documents developed as part of the capitol square project which are on file with the legislative service office;

(ii) Report its recommendations to the management council and the state building commission for final approval.

(b) The legislative service office and construction management division of the state construction department shall staff the subcommittee created by this section. The legislative service office, the state construction department, the department of education, the office of tourism, the department of state parks and cultural resources and other state entities as determined appropriate by the subcommittee shall provide support for the design and construction of the exhibits and wayfinding systems.

(c) There is appropriated four million five hundred thousand dollars ($4,500,000.00) from the strategic investments and projects account to the capitol square preservation account.

(d) There is appropriated four million two hundred fifty thousand dollars ($4,250,000.00) from the capitol square preservation account to the state construction department. The state construction department shall be the fiscal and contracting agent for expenditure of this appropriation. After consultation with the subcommittee created under this section, the state construction department shall expend this appropriation for the purposes of:

(i) Development of design and construction documents and the construction of interpretive exhibits for the capitol and the capitol extension in accordance with the recommendations approved by the management council and the state building commission;

(ii) Design, construction and installation of a wayfinding system and signage for the capitol, the capitol extension and the Herschler building in accordance with the recommendations approved by the management council and the state building commission."

Section 9.

(a) The following projects are authorized to be administered through the state construction department and shall utilize private revenue and any general funds applied to the project under section 3 of this act for the purposes of design and construction up to the following total project amounts:

- (i) CWC- Jackson Outreach Center: up to eighteen million six hundred seventy thousand five hundred forty-two dollars ($18,670,542.00);
- (ii) NWC- Student Center: up to twenty-five million one hundred thirty thousand seven hundred fifty-six dollars ($25,130,756.00);
- (iii) LCCC- RAC Renovation: up to twenty-two million two hundred forty-eight thousand four hundred forty-two dollars ($22,248,442.00);
- (iv) NWCCD- Construction Technology Center: up to nine million eight hundred fifty-six thousand dollars ($9,856,000.00).

(b) The University of Wyoming is authorized to utilize up to twenty-seven million five hundred thousand dollars ($27,500,000.00) in private revenue for the design and construction of University of Wyoming projects selected by the University of Wyoming board of trustees.

(c) The community college projects and the University of Wyoming projects authorized to be constructed under this section up to the authorized amount for each project shall be eligible for major maintenance as appropriated by the legislature until the facilities are no longer owned by the community college district or the University of Wyoming.

(d) For purposes of subsections (a) and (b) of this section, private revenue may include federal funds from qualifying capital construction grant funds allocated to the state under section 604, coronavirus capital projects fund, of the American Rescue Plan Act, P.L. 117-2. The governor, with the assistance of the state construction department, shall submit grant applications to secure those funds as may be available. In submitting the applications, the governor shall require the university or community college, as applicable, to provide nonstate matching funds in an appropriate ratio to the total application for federal funds to apply toward the project. The ratio shall be established by taking into consideration other funds available to the institutions and other relevant facts and circumstances. In no event shall the ratio required of any institution be greater than five (5) times the ratio of any other institution. To the extent federal funds are granted for a project, those funds are appropriated and the authorization of non-federal private funds for the approved project shall be reduced by one dollar ($1.00) for each one dollar ($1.00) in federal funds received."

"21-3-401. Reading assessment and intervention; stipends.

(a) Each school district shall select and implement a reading assessment and intervention program that uses an instrument that screens for signs of dyslexia and other reading difficulties as early as possible in kindergarten through grade three (3) and that implements with fidelity an evidence based intervention program. The program shall include instruments that monitor and measure reading progress and assess student reading skills and progress to provide data that informs any intervention. The assessment and intervention program shall be administered to all students in kindergarten through grade three (3). The assessments in the program shall be assessments approved by the department of education in accordance with subsection (e) of this section. The program shall also include implementation of evidence based core curricula aligned to the uniform content and performance standards and evidenced based interventions to meet the needs of all students. The program shall be multi-tiered and shall include evidence based interventions to facilitate remediation of any reading difficulty as early as possible.

(e) The department of education shall approve three (3) appropriate assessment options that school districts may use to implement the assessment portion of the assessment and intervention programs required by this section.

(f) Subject to the availability of funds, the department shall by rule establish a stipend program to provide annual stipends of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500.00) to public school teachers who have received a certification or supplemental training in educating kindergarten through grade three (3) students in reading. The department shall determine which certifications and trainings qualify under this subsection, but no teacher who receives a stipend under W.S. 21-7-501(f) shall be eligible to receive a stipend under this subsection. The department shall only include certifications and trainings that have been shown to improve teacher performance in delivering reading education to kindergarten through grade three (3) students. Stipends shall be made through each school district and the department shall reimburse each school district for lawfully paid stipends. In the event legislative appropriations are insufficient to provide stipends to all teachers who qualify, stipends shall be provided on a pro rata basis. The department shall establish an appropriate annual deadline for teachers to apply for the stipend."

"Section 1. W.S. 21-13-309.1 is created to read:

21-13-309.1. Education resource block grant model components.

(a) This section is intended to specify the education resource block grant model components and computations necessary to execute the 2020 cost of education study as required by W.S. 21-13-309(t) and as adopted and modified by the legislature.

(b) As used in this section:

(i) "Block grant model components" includes the following categories:

(A) The educational materials category of model components which includes the following:

(I) The books and instructional materials component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxi) of this section;

(II) The gifted and talented students component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxiii) of this section;

(III) The career and technical education equipment and materials component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxiv) of this section;

(IV) The student activities component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxv) of this section;

(V) The professional development component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxvi) of this section;

(VI) The central office nonpersonnel resources component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxviii) of this section;

(VII) The operations and maintenance supplies component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxx) of this section.

(B) The energy category of model components which includes the utilities component resourced under paragraph (c)(xxxii) of this section;

(C) The nonprofessional labor category of model components which includes supervisory aides, central office classified staff, school secretaries, school clerical staff, maintenance workers, groundskeepers and custodians resourced under paragraph (c)(xxxiii) of this section;

(D) The professional labor category of model components which includes teachers, principals, assistant principals, superintendents, assistant superintendents, business managers and school computer technicians resourced under paragraph (c)(xxxiiii) of this section.

(ii) "FTE" means the full-time equivalency basis as computed in accordance with guidelines prescribed by rule and regulation of the department of education;

(iii) "Grade band" means a school grade configuration that falls within one (1) of the following configurations:

(A) An elementary school grade band that includes grades kindergarten through grade six (K-6) or any combination of those grades;

(B) A middle school grade band that includes grade five (5) through eight (8) or grade six (6) through grade nine (9) or any combination of grades within those ranges;

(C) A high school grade band that includes grade eight (8) through grade twelve (12) or any combination of those grades.

(c) The Wyoming education resource block grant model components and the resourcing for those components shall be as follows:

(i) Full day kindergarten. Funded for all elementary schools;

(ii) Core teachers for schools with ADM greater than forty-nine (49) and schools not designated as alternative schools:

(A) Elementary school. Calculated as ADM divided by sixteen (16);

(B) Middle school. Calculated as ADM divided by twenty-one (21);

(C) High school. Calculated as ADM divided by twenty-one (21).

(iii) Specialist teachers for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools:

(A) Elementary school specialist teachers shall be calculated as twenty percent (20%) of the core teachers in subparagraph (ii)(A) of this subsection;

(B) Middle school specialist teachers shall be calculated as thirty-three percent (33%) of the core teachers in subparagraph (ii)(B) of this subsection;

(C) High school specialist teachers shall be calculated as thirty-three percent (33%) of the core teachers in subparagraph (ii)(C) of this subsection.

(iv) Additional vocational education teachers. For schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools, calculated as the product of each high school's FTE vocational education students reported under W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(D)(I) multiplied by twenty-nine hundredths (0.29) then divided by the high school class size of twenty-one (21);

(v) Small school and alternative school core staff. For schools with forty-nine (49) or less ADM or alternative schools, provide one (1) teacher position for every seven (7) ADM, calculated as total school ADM divided by seven (7). Each school shall receive a minimum of one (1) teacher by increasing the sum of the core staff in this paragraph to one (1) if the total is less than one (1);

(vi) Minimum teachers:

(A) The minimum number of teachers for any elementary school with more than forty-nine (49) ADM is six (6), as calculated by increasing the sum of the core teachers in paragraph (ii) of this subsection and specialist teachers in paragraph (iii) of this subsection to six (6). The minimum number of teachers for any middle school with more than forty-nine (49) ADM is eight (8), as calculated by increasing the sum of the core teachers in paragraph (ii) of this subsection and specialist teachers in paragraph (iii) of this subsection to eight (8). The minimum number of teachers for any high school with more than forty-nine (49) ADM is ten (10), as calculated by increasing the sum of the core teachers in paragraph (ii) of this subsection, specialist teachers in paragraph (iii) of this subsection and additional vocational education teachers in paragraph (iv) of this subsection to ten (10). The minimum number of teachers under this subparagraph shall be provided for each elementary school, middle school and high school grade band level for a school that contains more than one (1) grade band and the grade band is more than forty-nine (49) ADM;

(B) The minimum number of teachers for any school with more than forty-nine (49) ADM, more than one (1) grade band level and at least one (1) grade band level with forty-nine (49) ADM or less shall be calculated as follows:

(I) For each grade band level with forty-nine (49) ADM or less, the minimum number of teachers shall be calculated by increasing the sum of the core teachers in paragraph (ii) of this subsection, specialist teachers in paragraph (iii) of this subsection and additional vocational education teachers in paragraph (iv) of this subsection to one (1) teacher position for every seven (7) ADM;

(II) For each grade band level with more than forty-nine (49) ADM, the minimum number of teachers shall be calculated as provided in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph.

(vii) Small school district teacher adjustment. For all schools within a district comprised of less than two hundred forty-three (243) total ADM and notwithstanding all other teacher resources in paragraphs (ii) through (vi) of this subsection, resource each school with a minimum of one (1) core teacher at every grade level with reported ADM, plus an additional twenty percent (20%) of elementary grade level core teachers to calculate elementary specialist teachers and an additional thirty-three percent (33%) of middle school and high school grade core teachers to calculate middle school and high school specialist teachers;

(viii) Instructional coaches:

(A) Elementary school instructional coaches shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by forty-five hundredths (0.45) divided by two hundred eighty-eight (288) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools;

(B) Middle and high school instructional coaches shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by forty-five hundredths (0.45) divided by three hundred fifteen (315) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools;

(C) For schools containing more than one (1) grade band and more than forty-nine (49) ADM, instructional coaches shall be calculated as the product of the school's total ADM multiplied by forty-five hundredths (0.45) divided by three hundred fifteen (315).

(ix) Tutors:

(A) Calculated as the school's at-risk students computed under W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(A) divided by one hundred (100) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools;

(B) Minimum tutors. A minimum number of tutors shall be provided for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools based upon the following:

(I) Elementary schools. If the amount calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is less than the school ADM divided by two hundred eighty-eight (288), then increase the amount calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph so that the number of tutor positions is equal to the school ADM divided by two hundred eighty-eight (288);

(II) Middle and high schools. If the amount calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is less than the school ADM divided by three hundred fifteen (315), then increase the amount calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph so that the number of tutor positions is equal to the school ADM divided by three hundred fifteen (315);

(III) For schools containing more than one (1) grade band, the minimum number of tutors shall be calculated as provided in subdivision (II) of this subparagraph using the total school ADM.

(x) Extended day and summer school teachers:

(A) Calculated as the school's at-risk students computed under W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(A) divided by one hundred twenty (120) then multiplied by six-tenths (0.6) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools;

(B) Each school district shall receive a minimum of one-half (0.5) position if the total FTE calculated in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is less than one-half (0.5).

(xi) Substitute teachers:

(A) Calculated as the product of five percent (5%) multiplied by the sum of FTE positions calculated in paragraphs (ii) through (x) of this subsection;

(B) The daily substitute rate shall be equal to the product of one hundred two dollars and fifteen cents ($102.15) multiplied by seven and sixty-five hundredths percent (7.65%) for social security and Medicaid benefits;

(C) Total substitute teacher resources under this paragraph shall be equal to the product of one hundred seventy-five (175) multiplied by the product calculated in subparagraph (A) of this paragraph multiplied by the product calculated in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph.

(xii) Supervisory aides:

(A) Elementary school supervisory aides shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by two (2) then divided by two hundred eighty-eight (288) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as an alternative school;

(B) Middle school supervisory aides shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by two (2) then divided by three hundred fifteen (315) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as an alternative school;

(C) High school supervisory aides shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by five (5) then divided by three hundred fifteen (315) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as an alternative school;

(D) For schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and containing an elementary school grade band and a middle school grade band but not a high school grade band, supervisory aide positions shall be calculated based upon the formula in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph using the total school ADM. For schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and containing a high school grade band and either an elementary school grade band or a middle school grade band or both, supervisory aide positions shall be calculated based upon the formula in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph using the total school ADM. This subparagraph shall not apply for schools designated as an alternative school.

(xiii) Pupil support positions:

(A) Calculated as the school's at-risk students computed under W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(A) divided by one hundred (100) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as an alternative school;

(B) Minimum pupil support positions. Minimum pupil support positions shall be provided for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as an alternative school based upon the following:

(I) Elementary schools. If the amount calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is less than the school ADM divided by two hundred eighty-eight (288), then increase the amount of positions calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph to equal to the school ADM divided by two hundred eighty-eight (288);

(II) Middle and high schools. If the amount calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph is less than the school ADM divided by three hundred fifteen (315), then increase the amount of positions calculated under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph to equal to the school ADM divided by three hundred fifteen (315);

(III) For schools containing more than one (1) grade band, the minimum number of tutors shall be calculated as provided in subdivision (II) of this paragraph using the total school ADM.

(xiv) Counselors. Calculated as total middle and high school ADM divided by two hundred and fifty (250) for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools;

(xv) Librarians. Shall be calculated for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools based upon the following:

(A) Elementary schools. Calculated as the school's ADM divided by two hundred eighty-eight (288);

(B) Middle schools and high schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and less than one hundred five (105) ADM, provide librarian positions by prorating one (1) librarian position for one hundred five (105) ADM down to no librarian positions for forty-nine (49) ADM. For middle schools and high schools with ADM of one hundred five (105) or more up to six hundred thirty (630), provide one (1) librarian position. For middle schools and high schools with more than six hundred thirty (630) ADM, calculate librarian positions by dividing the school's ADM by six hundred thirty (630);

(C) For schools containing more than one (1) grade band and more than forty-nine (49) ADM, librarians shall be calculated using the formula in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph using the total school ADM.

(xvi) School computer technicians. For middle and high schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools, calculated as each school's ADM divided by three hundred fifteen (315). For schools containing more than one (1) grade band, calculated using the total school ADM divided by three hundred fifteen (315);

(xvii) Principals. Shall be calculated for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools based upon the following:

(A) Elementary schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and less than ninety-six (96) ADM, provide principal positions by prorating one (1) principal position for ninety-six (96) ADM down to no position at forty-nine (49) ADM. Provide one (1) principal position for elementary schools with ninety-six (96) or more ADM;

(B) Middle and high schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and less than one hundred five (105) ADM, provide principal positions by prorating one (1) principal position for one hundred five (105) ADM down to no position for forty-nine (49) ADM. Provide one (1) principal position for middle schools and high schools with one hundred five (105) or more ADM;

(C) For schools containing more than one (1) grade band and more than forty-nine (49) ADM, provide principal positions based upon the formula in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph.

(xviii) Assistant principals:

(A) Prorate one (1) assistant principal position for every two hundred eighty-eight (288) elementary school ADM over two hundred eighty-eight (288) ADM;

(B) Prorate one (1) assistant principal position for every three hundred fifteen (315) middle school and high school ADM over three hundred fifteen (315) ADM;

(C) For schools containing more than one (1) grade band, prorate one (1) assistant principal position for every three hundred fifteen (315) ADM over three hundred fifteen (315) ADM using the total school ADM;

(D) Provide one (1) assistant principal position for a school with a total ADM of forty-nine (49) or less or for a school designated as an alternative school.

(xix) Secretaries. Calculated for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools based upon the following:

(A) Elementary schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and less than ninety-six (96) ADM, provide secretary positions by prorating one (1) secretary position for ninety-six (96) ADM down to no position at forty-nine (49) ADM. Elementary schools with more than ninety-six (96) ADM and up to two hundred eighty-eight (288) ADM, provide one (1) secretary position. Prorate one (1) additional secretary position for every two hundred eighty-eight (288) elementary ADM over two hundred eighty-eight (288) ADM;

(B) Middle schools and high schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and less than one hundred five (105) ADM, provide secretary positions by prorating one (1) secretary position for one hundred five (105) ADM down to no position at forty-nine (49) ADM. Middle schools and high schools with more than one hundred five (105) ADM and up to three hundred fifteen (315) ADM, provide one (1) secretary position. Prorate one (1) additional secretary position for every three hundred fifteen (315) middle school and high school ADM over three hundred fifteen (315) ADM;

(C) For schools containing more than one (1) grade band and more than forty-nine (49) ADM, secretary positions shall be calculated using the formula in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph using the total school ADM.

(xx) Clerical positions. Calculated for schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and schools not designated as alternative schools based upon the following:

(A) Elementary schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM, provide clerical positions by prorating one (1) clerical position for every two hundred eighty-eight (288) ADM down to no clerical positions for forty-nine (49) ADM;

(B) Middle schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM, provide clerical positions by prorating one (1) clerical position for every three hundred fifteen (315) ADM down to no clerical positions for forty-nine (49) ADM;

(C) High schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM, provide clerical positions by prorating four (4) clerical positions for every six hundred thirty (630) ADM down to no clerical positions for forty-nine (49) ADM;

(D) For schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and containing an elementary school grade band and middle school grade band but not a high school grade band, clerical positions shall be calculated based upon the formula in subparagraph (B) of this paragraph using the total school ADM. For schools with more than forty-nine (49) ADM and containing a high school grade band and either an elementary school grade band or a middle school grade band or both, clerical positions shall be calculated based upon the formula in subparagraph (C) of this paragraph using the total school ADM.

(xxi) Books and instructional materials. Resources shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by two hundred nine dollars and thirty-three cents ($209.33);

(xxii) Technology and equipment. Resources shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00). This amount shall not be subject to any external cost adjustment applicable under W.S. 21-13-309(o);

(xxiii) Gifted and talented students. Resources shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by forty-four dollars and seven cents ($44.07);

(xxiv) Career and technical education equipment and materials. Resources shall be calculated as the product of each high school's FTE vocational education teachers reported under W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(D)(III) multiplied by ten thousand three hundred thirteen dollars and eighty-eight cents ($10,313.88);

(xxv) Student activities shall be based upon each school's ADM. A middle school with ADM in grade nine (9) shall have that ADM included in the high school ADM for the high school the students would normally attend. Student activity funding shall be calculated in the following manner:

(A) Elementary school student activity resources shall be calculated as the product of the total elementary school ADM multiplied by twenty-six dollars and two cents ($26.02);

(B) Middle school student activity resources shall be calculated as the product of the total middle school ADM multiplied by:

(I) Eight hundred fifty-six dollars ($856.00) for a school with one (1) ADM, prorated down to five hundred eighty-five dollars and forty-one cents ($585.41) for a school with one hundred five (105) ADM;

(II) Five hundred eighty-five dollars and forty-one cents ($585.41) for a school with one hundred five (105) ADM, prorated down to four hundred three dollars and twenty-nine cents ($403.29) for a school with two hundred ten (210) ADM;

(III) Four hundred three dollars and twenty-nine cents ($403.29) for a school with two hundred ten (210) ADM, prorated down to three hundred twenty-five dollars and twenty-three cents ($325.23) for a school with three hundred fifteen (315) ADM;

(IV) Three hundred twenty-five dollars and twenty-three cents ($325.23) for a school with three hundred fifteen (315) ADM, prorated down to two hundred eighty-six dollars and twenty cents ($286.20) for a school with six hundred thirty (630) ADM;

(V) Two hundred eighty-six dollars and twenty cents ($286.20) for a school with six hundred thirty (630) ADM, prorated down to two hundred twenty-one dollars and sixteen cents ($221.16) for a school with one thousand two hundred sixty (1,260) or more ADM;

(C) High school student activity resources shall be calculated as the product of the total high school ADM multiplied by:

(I) Two thousand two hundred six dollars and fifty-nine cents ($2,206.59) for a school with one (1) ADM, prorated down to one thousand six hundred ninety-one dollars and eighteen cents ($1,691.18) for a school with one hundred five (105) ADM;

(II) One thousand six hundred ninety-one dollars and eighteen cents ($1,691.18) for a school with one hundred five (105) ADM, prorated down to one thousand three hundred sixty-five dollars and ninety-five cents ($1,365.95) for a school with two hundred ten (210) ADM;

(III) One thousand three hundred sixty-five dollars and ninety-five cents ($1,365.95) for a school with two hundred ten (210) ADM, prorated down to one thousand one hundred five dollars and seventy-seven cents ($1,105.77) for a school with three hundred fifteen (315) ADM;

(IV) One thousand one hundred five dollars and seventy-seven cents ($1,105.77) for a school with three hundred fifteen (315) ADM, prorated down to seven hundred eighty dollars and fifty-four cents ($780.54) for a school with six hundred thirty (630) ADM;

(V) Seven hundred eighty dollars and fifty-four cents ($780.54) for a school with six hundred thirty (630) ADM, prorated down to six hundred fifty dollars and forty-five cents ($650.45) for a school with one thousand two hundred sixty (1,260) or more ADM.

(xxvi) Professional development. Resources shall be calculated as the product of the school's ADM multiplied by one hundred thirty-seven dollars and seventy-two cents ($137.72);

(xxvii) Central office staff:

(A) For school district ADM of five hundred (500) or less, three (3) administrative positions and three (3) classified positions;

(B) For school district ADM from five hundred (500) to one thousand (1,000), provide four (4) administrative positions and four (4) classified positions at one thousand (1,000) ADM, prorated down to three (3) administrative positions and three (3) classified positions at five hundred (500) ADM;

(C) For school district ADM from one thousand (1,000) to three thousand five hundred (3,500), provide eight (8) administrative positions and ten (10) classified positions at three thousand five hundred (3,500) ADM, prorated down to four (4) administrative positions and four (4) classified positions at one thousand (1,000) ADM;

(D) For a school district with ADM greater than three thousand five hundred (3,500), prorate eight (8) administrative positions for every three thousand five hundred (3,500) ADM and prorate ten (10) classified positions for every three thousand five hundred (3,500) ADM.

(xxviii) Central office nonpersonnel resources. Resources shall be calculated as the product of the school district ADM multiplied by four hundred dollars and twenty cents ($400.20);

(xxix) Maintenance and operations. Resourced as follows:

(A) For school buildings containing more than one (1) grade band level or school, the resources shall be generated at the highest grade band level using the total ADM in the building;

(B) School custodians. For school buildings with more than forty-nine (49) ADM, calculated using the average of the following four (4) factors specified under subdivisions (I) through (IV) of this subparagraph, plus an additional one-half (0.5) FTE for middle or high schools:

(I) One (1) custodian multiplied by the total of the number of teachers resourced under paragraphs (i) through (v) of this subsection divided by thirteen (13);

(II) One (1) custodian multiplied by the result of the total school building ADM divided by three hundred twenty-five (325);

(III) One (1) custodian multiplied by the total of the number of classrooms in the building divided by thirteen (13);

(IV) One (1) custodian multiplied by the result of the total allowable gross square footage of education space for the school building in accordance with W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(G)(II) divided by eighteen thousand (18,000).

(C) District custodians. Calculated as the product of one (1) custodian position multiplied by ten percent (10%) of the total allowable gross square footage of education space for all school buildings in the district in accordance with W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(G)(II) then divided by eighteen thousand (18,000);

(D) Maintenance workers. A base FTE resourced using the average of the four (4) factors specified under subdivisions (I), (II), (III) and (IV) of this subparagraph plus the additional adjustments to the base FTE amount as provided in subdivision (V) of this subparagraph:

(I) One and one-tenth (1.1) maintenance worker per school building;

(II) One (1) maintenance worker multiplied by the total of the allowable gross square footage of education space for the school building in accordance with W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(G)(II) divided by sixty thousand (60,000), then multiplied by a factor of one and two tenths (1.2);

(III) One (1) maintenance worker multiplied by the total ADM for the school building divided by one thousand (1,000), then multiplied by a factor of one and three-tenths (1.3);

(IV) One (1) maintenance worker multiplied by the school district's school year 2005-2006 general fund operating expenditures divided by five million dollars ($5,000,000), then multiplied by a factor of one and two-tenths (1.2);

(V) The base FTE calculated under this subparagraph for each school building shall be adjusted as follows:

(1) A school level adjustment for elementary schools equal to the product of the base FTE multiplied by a factor of eight-tenths (0.8), for middle schools equal to the product of the base FTE multiplied by a factor of one (1) and for high schools equal to the product of the base FTE multiplied by a factor of two (2);

(2) A building age adjustment for a school building that is less than ten (10) years old equal to the product of the base FTE multiplied by a factor of ninety-five hundredths (0.95) and for a school building that is more than thirty (30) years old equal to the product of the base FTE multiplied by a factor of one and one-tenth (1.1);

(3) A small district adjustment for a school district with less than one thousand (1,000) ADM equal to the base FTE plus the adjustments under subdivisions (1) and (2) of this subdivision, then multiplied by a factor of one and one-tenth (1.1).

(E) Groundskeepers:

(I) In making calculations under this subparagraph:

(1) For school land acreage containing more than one (1) school building, the resources shall be generated at the highest applicable grade band level using the total ADM of all schools on the land acreage;

(2) Acreage acquired by a district after July 1, 1997 shall be calculated using the lesser of the actual site acreage on which the facility is situated or the acreage specified in school facility commission guidelines, provided that this limitation shall not apply if the acreage was acquired through an exchange with another governmental entity and the acreages involved in the exchange were originally acquired by the district and the governmental entity on or prior to July 1, 1997.

(II) A base groundskeeper FTE shall be calculated for each school site as the product of the allowable acreage computed under subdivision (I) of this subparagraph multiplied by ninety-three (93) hours per acre divided by two thousand eight (2,008) hours of work per year. The base groundskeeper FTE shall be adjusted by a factor equal to the base groundskeeper FTE multiplied by one and five-tenths (1.5) for middle school sites and two and five-tenths (2.5) for high school sites;

(III) Groundskeeper FTE positions for district level sites shall be equal to ten percent (10%) of the school level groundskeeper FTE positions calculated under subdivision (II) of this subparagraph.

(xxx) Operations and maintenance supplies. Resources shall be calculated for each district as the product of the allowable gross square footage of education space for each school building in accordance with W.S. 21-13-309(m)(v)(G)(II) multiplied by a factor of one and one-tenth (1.1) and then multiplied by seventy-three cents ($0.73);

(xxxii) Utilities. Actual school year 2009-2010 expenditures by district excluding amounts reimbursed under W.S. 21-13-320 and 21-13-321 as adjusted by negative ten and seven hundred sixty-two thousandths percent (-10.762%), further adjusted by four and seventy-seven hundredths percent (4.77%), further adjusted by ten and eight hundred twenty-three thousandths percent (10.823%), further adjusted by nine hundred thirty-six thousandths percent (0.936%) and further adjusted by external cost adjustments enacted by law. For additional school buildings added to district building inventories after school year 2009-2010, one hundred percent (100%) of 2009-2010 district average utility expenditures per gross square foot for district school buildings multiplied by the additional authorized educational square footage;

(xxxii) School adjustments:

(A) For a school configured with grade kindergarten through six (K-6), resource as an elementary school;

(B) For a school configured with grades five through eight (5-8), grades six through nine (6-9) or grades seven through nine (7-9), resource as a middle school;

(C) For a school configured with grades kindergarten through seven (K-7), grades kindergarten through eight (K-8) or grades kindergarten through nine (K-9), resource grades kindergarten through five (K-5) as an elementary school grade band for teacher resources and remaining grades and as a middle school grade band for teacher resources;

(D) For a school configured with grades kindergarten through twelve (K-12), resource grades kindergarten through five (K-5) as an elementary school grade band for teacher resources, grades six through eight (6-8) as a middle school grade band for teacher resources and the remaining grades and as a high school grade band for teacher resources;

(E) For a school configured with grades six through twelve (6-12) or grades seven through twelve (7-12), resource grades six through eight (6-8) as a middle school grade band for teacher resources and the remaining grades and as a high school grade band for teacher resources.

(xxxiii) Salaries for all school and district level staffing categories under this subsection, shall be based upon salary levels as specified under this paragraph. The salary level for each staffing category shall be adjusted for each district based upon the district experience, education and responsibility level as specified for that staffing category. District experience, education and responsibility level by appropriate staffing category shall be updated each year by the department of education so that district adjustments reflect the prior school year information. The education adjustments under this paragraph shall only reflect the highest degree obtained by district staff. The staffing categories and specified salaries and adjustments are as follows:

(A) Central office administrative positions:

(I) One (1) superintendent salary equal to seventy-nine thousand five hundred eighteen dollars and ninety cents ($79,518.90), plus nineteen thousand one hundred fifty-seven dollars and thirty-six cents ($19,157.36) multiplied by the average number of central office administrative positions that have a bachelor's degree, plus twenty-five thousand three hundred seventy-five dollars and twenty-one cents ($25,375.21) multiplied by the average number of central office administrative positions that have a master's degree, plus thirty thousand five hundred forty-six dollars and sixteen cents ($30,546.16) multiplied by the average number of central office administrative positions that have a doctoral degree, plus two hundred thirteen dollars and seventy-seven cents ($213.77) multiplied by the average years of state experience, plus four dollars and twenty-five cents ($4.25) multiplied by the district ADM;

(II) One (1) assistant superintendent salary equal to eighty percent (80%) of the superintendent salary calculated in subdivision (I) of this subparagraph;

(III) One (1) business manager salary equal to forty-three thousand six hundred eighty-seven dollars and thirty-nine cents ($43,687.39), plus nineteen thousand one hundred fifty-seven dollars and thirty-six cents ($19,157.36) multiplied by the average number of central office administrative positions that have a bachelor's degree, plus twenty-five thousand three hundred seventy-five dollars and twenty-one cents ($25,375.21) multiplied by the average number of central office administrative positions that have a master's degree, plus thirty thousand five hundred forty-six dollars and sixteen cents ($30,546.16) multiplied by the average number of central office administrative positions that have a doctoral degree, plus two hundred thirteen dollars and seventy-seven cents ($213.77) multiplied by the average years of state experience, plus four dollars and twenty-five cents ($4.25) multiplied by the district ADM;

(IV) Additional central office administrative positions resourced under paragraph (xxvii) of this subsection in excess of three (3) FTE shall have a salary equal to the average of:

(1) The salary calculated under subdivision (II) of this subparagraph multiplied by two (2), plus;

(2) The salary calculated under subdivision (III) of this subparagraph.

(B) Principal salaries shall be equal to seventy-three thousand seven hundred forty dollars and eight cents ($73,740.08), plus eight thousand five hundred twenty-four dollars and twenty-seven cents ($8,524.27) multiplied by the average number of principal and assistant principal positions that have a doctoral degree, plus six hundred forty dollars and sixteen cents ($640.16) multiplied by the average years of state experience, plus fourteen dollars and fifty-six cents ($14.56) multiplied by the average school ADM;

(C) Assistant principal salaries shall be equal to fifty-nine thousand nine hundred seventy-nine dollars ($59,979.00), plus eight thousand five hundred twenty-four dollars and twenty-seven cents ($8,524.27) multiplied by the average number of principal and assistant principal positions that have a doctoral degree, plus six hundred forty dollars and sixteen cents ($640.16) multiplied by the average years of state experience, plus fourteen dollars and fifty-six cents ($14.56) multiplied by the average school ADM;

(D) Teacher salaries under this subparagraph shall be provided for core teachers, specialist teachers, English language learner teachers, instructional coaches, tutors, summer school teachers, extended day teachers, counselors, pupil support positions, and librarians. Teacher salaries shall be equal to thirty-eight thousand ninety-eight dollars and ninety-one cents ($38,098.91), plus six thousand three hundred forty-four dollars and thirty-six cents ($6,344.36) multiplied by the average number of teacher positions that have a master's degree, plus thirteen thousand eight hundred forty-two dollars and twenty-five cents ($13,842.25) multiplied by the average number of teacher positions that have a doctoral degree, plus eight hundred sixty-eight dollars and seventy cents ($868.70) multiplied by the average years of teaching experience up to twenty (20) years, plus two hundred twenty-five dollars and forty-eight cents ($225.48) multiplied by the average years of teaching experience over twenty (20) years;

(E) School computer technician salaries shall be equal to thirty-nine thousand five hundred fifty-six dollars and nineteen cents ($39,556.19), plus thirteen thousand six hundred forty-nine dollars ($13,649.00) multiplied by the average number of school computer technician positions that have a bachelor's degree, plus six hundred fifty-nine dollars and eighty cents ($659.80) multiplied by the average years of state experience;

(F) Supervisory aide salaries shall be equal to seventeen thousand six hundred one dollars and forty-five cents ($17,601.45), plus two thousand forty-nine dollars and forty cents ($2,049.40) multiplied by the average number of supervisory aide positions that have a bachelor's degree, plus two hundred eighty-two dollars and eighty cents ($282.80) multiplied by the average years of state experience;

(G) School secretary salaries shall be equal to twenty-nine thousand eight hundred forty-six dollars and eighty cents ($29,846.80), plus four hundred eleven dollars and ninety-eight cents ($411.98) multiplied by the average years of state experience for all secretary and clerical positions;

(H) School clerical salaries shall be equal to twenty-two thousand nine hundred sixty-two dollars and fifteen cents ($22,962.15), plus three hundred sixteen dollars and fifty-five cents ($316.55) multiplied by the average years of state experience for all secretary and clerical positions;

(J) Central office classified position salaries shall be equal to thirty-two thousand four hundred twelve dollars and ninety-one cents ($32,412.91), plus four hundred eleven dollars and ninety-eight cents ($411.98) multiplied by the average years of state experience for all secretary and clerical positions;

(K) Maintenance worker and groundskeeper salaries shall be equal to thirty-two thousand six hundred seventy-nine dollars and eighteen cents

($32,679.18), plus four hundred eighty-four dollars and thirteen cents ($484.13) multiplied by the average years of state experience for all maintenance worker, groundskeeper and custodian positions;

(M) Custodian salaries shall be equal to twenty-six thousand five hundred twenty-nine dollars and eighty-one cents ($26,529.81), plus four hundred eighty-four dollars and thirteen cents ($484.13) multiplied by the average years of state experience for all maintenance worker, groundskeeper and custodian positions.

(xxxiv) Each district adjusted average salary for each staffing category under paragraph (xxxiii) of this subsection shall be further adjusted as follows:

(A) Increased by an amount equal to twenty-one and one-tenth percent (21.1%) of the district adjusted average salary for:

(I) Social security equaling six and two tenths percent (6.2%);

(II) Medicare equaling one and forty-five hundredths percent (1.45%);

(III) Worker's compensation equaling seven tenths percent (0.7%);

(IV) Unemployment insurance equaling six hundredths percent (0.06%);

(V) Retirement equaling twelve and sixty-nine hundredths percent (12.69%). The amount contains employee contributions to the Wyoming retirement system of five and fifty-seven hundredths percent (5.57%) and employer contributions to the Wyoming retirement system of seven and twelve hundredths percent (7.12%).

(B) Regional cost adjustment differences as measured by the greater of the 2005 hedonic wage index or the Wyoming cost-of-living index computed by the division of economic analysis, department of administration and information, with a minimum of one hundred (100) index value. For purposes of the education resource block grant model, the version of the Wyoming cost-of-living index used by the division shall be based upon the unrecalibrated housing cost index weights unless otherwise determined by the legislature. In addition, the version of the Wyoming cost-of-living index applied under this subparagraph for any school year shall be the average of the six (6) consecutive semiannual index reports completed by January 1 of the immediately preceding school year. The regional cost adjustment under this subparagraph shall be multiplied by the district adjusted average salary as further adjusted under subparagraph (A) of this paragraph;

(xxxv) Health insurance. An amount for health insurance benefits computed under W.S. 21-13-309(m) (v) (F).

(xxxvi) External cost adjustment. Except as otherwise provided in this section, the block grant model components as provided in this subsection or any specified category of model components shall be subject to an external cost adjustment as adopted by the legislature pursuant to W.S. 21-13-309(o).".

"(IV) In addition to funding amounts calculated under subdivisions (F)(I) through (III), the department of education shall adjust each school district's foundation program amount computed in accordance with W.S. 21-13-309(p) for school years 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 to provide additional health insurance funding. The health insurance adjustment added to each school district's foundation program amount shall be calculated in accordance with subdivisions (V) and (VI) of this subparagraph;

(V) For school year 2021-2022 only, additional health insurance funding for a school district shall be calculated in accordance with following:

(1) Multiply the annualized state contribution rate for employee only, split contracts, employee plus spouse or children and family coverage based on district weighted actual participation in district health insurance plans by the number of positions funded within the education resource block grant model for that school district;

(2) Multiply the annualized state contribution rate for employee only, split contracts, employee plus spouse or children and family coverage based on district weighted actual participation in district health insurance plans by the lesser of the number of school district employees funded within the education resource block grant model that are actually enrolled in a school district health insurance plan for the preceding school year or the number of positions funded within the education resource block grant model;

(3) Subtract the product calculated in subdivision (2) of this subdivision from the product calculated in subdivision (1) of this subdivision and multiply that difference by two-thirds (2/3) to calculate the additional funding amount.

(VI) For school year 2022-2023 only, additional health insurance funding for a school district shall be calculated in accordance with following:

(1) Multiply the annualized state contribution rate for employee only, split contracts, employee plus spouse or children and family coverage based on district weighted actual participation in district health insurance plans by the number of positions funded within the education resource block grant model for that school district;

(2) Multiply the annualized state contribution rate for employee only, split contracts, employee plus spouse or children and family coverage based on district weighted actual participation in district health insurance plans by the lesser of the number of school district employees funded within the education resource block grant model that are actually enrolled in a school district health insurance plan for the preceding school year or the number of positions funded within the education resource block grant model;

(3) Subtract the product calculated in subdivision (2) of this subdivision from the product calculated in subdivision (1) of this subdivision and multiply that difference by one-third (1/3) to calculate the additional funding amount."

"(a) For school years 2020-2021, 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 the state superintendent shall reduce each school district's foundation program amount in accordance with this section.

(b) For each school district that receives funds under Section 2001 of the American Rescue Plan Act, P.L. No. 117-2, the school district shall report the allocated amount to the state superintendent upon notice of the allocation. The state superintendent shall reduce the school district's foundation program amount calculated pursuant to W.S. 21-13-309(p) by the maximum reduction allowed by the American Rescue Plan Act that meets state maintenance of effort and equity requirements of that federal law. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the amount of funds distributed from the foundation program in accordance with W.S. 21-13-313(c) shall be reduced by the amount calculated, or recapture payments in accordance with W.S. 21-13-102(b) increased, subject to and in accordance with the provisions of this section. If a school district has received an amount from the foundation program in excess of the calculated amount under this section, a school district shall remit the difference to the department of education or have their recapture payment increased to account for the difference. The department of education shall deposit any difference within the school foundation program account.

(c) The state superintendent shall implement funding reductions over school years 2020-2021, 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 in a manner and in amounts that allow school districts to efficiently provide educational services to public school students. The reductions shall be implemented taking into consideration the district's actual receipt of the federal funds and cash flow needs of the district. The maximum reduction under this section for school years 2020-2021, 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 shall not exceed eighty percent (80%) of the total amount allocated to Wyoming school districts under Section 2001 of the American Rescue Plan Act. The state superintendent shall not reduce any amount due to a school district for reimbursement of special education programs and services under W.S. 21-13-321."

(a) Any federal funds received by a school district under section 2001 of the American Rescue Plan Act, P.L. No. 117-2, shall be deposited into a separate account and shall only be expended for essential education services as defined in this subsection and as provided in W.S. 21-13-309.1 created by this act. As used in this section, "essential education services" means those services required for "a complete and uniform system of public instruction," per the Wyoming constitution, Article 7, Section 1 and to provide "a thorough and efficient system of public schools, adequate to the proper instruction of all youth of the state," per the Wyoming constitution, Article 7, Section 9 and means as provided in W.S. 21-13-309.1 created by this act, as modified by W.S. 21-13-309(m) and by section 5 of this act.

(b) Amounts allocated to a school district under W.S. 21-13-309(p) shall only be expended for essential education services. Any unexpended, unobligated funds from amounts allocated under W.S. 21-13-309(p) remaining at the end of school year 2020-2021, at the end of school year 2021-2022 and at the end of school year 2022-2023 shall be transferred after each school year to a separate school district reserve account for purposes of essential education services as provided in W.S. 21-13-309.1, as amended. Funds transferred to a school district's separate reserve account shall not be expended for any other purpose.

(c) The state superintendent shall audit school districts regarding how they expend any federal funds received under the federal American Rescue Plan Act, P.L. No. 117-2, and how they expend all funds received for school years 2021-2022 and 2022-2023 according to W.S. 21-13-309.1, created by this act. The superintendent may expend federal funds that are not distributed to school districts to pay for the audit. The superintendent shall require each district to account for any funds allocated under W.S. 21-13-309(p) that were not expended on the components in W.S. 21-13-309.1 and that were not subsequently transferred to the school district's reserve account pursuant to this section. If the audit reveals material noncompliance with this section, a school district shall develop a plan to transfer to its separate reserve account the funds identified to be out of compliance."

Prayer was offered by Pastor Zach Bechtold from Grace United Methodist Church.

Majority Floor Leader Sommers: Mr. Speaker, I move that bills currently pending before this body in the 66th Wyoming State Legislature, 2021 General Session, be indefinitely postponed.

Minority Floor Leader Connolly: Mr. Speaker I second the motion of the Majority Floor Leader.

Speaker Barlow: You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' By your vote the motion has passed the House.

Majority Floor Leader Sommers: Mr. Speaker, I move that the Senate be informed that the House of Representatives, of the 66th Wyoming State Legislature, 2021 General Session, has completed its business and is ready to adjourn.

Speaker Barlow: You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' Motion carried. I am directing that House Chief Clerk, Wendy Harding, inform the Senate that the House of Representatives, 2021 General Session of the 66th Wyoming State Legislature, is ready to adjourn.

Majority Floor Leader Sommers: Mr. Speaker, I move that a committee of two be appointed to inform the Governor that the House has completed its business and is ready to adjourn; and to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to the House Chamber.

Speaker Barlow: You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' The motion carried. Representative Sommers and Representative Connolly, please inform the Governor that the House of Representatives has completed its business and is ready to adjourn and escort His Excellency, Governor Gordon, to the House Chamber. The House of Representatives will stand at ease until the sound of the gavel.

Speaker Barlow: The House will come to order. All rise, please.

Sergeant-at-Arms Keslar: Mr. Speaker, it is my pleasure to announce, His Excellency, the Governor of Wyoming, Mark Gordon.

Speaker Barlow: Governor Gordon, we welcome you to the House of Representatives.

Governor Gordon gave closing remarks to the members of the House.

Speaker Barlow: Governor Gordon, on behalf of the members of the House of Representatives, I thank you for your closing remarks to us.

Representative Olsen and Representative Yin please escort His Excellency, the Governor from the House Chamber.

CLOSING OF SESSION

Majority Floor Leader Sommers moved the following:

1. That the House of Representatives, 66th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, adjourn until a date and time which are determined jointly by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and by the President of the Senate for the purpose of calling the House and Senate back into session.
2. That if no such time is established before December 31, 2021, the House of Representatives, 66th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, is adjourned sine die effective at 12:00 o'clock noon on that date and the Legislative General Session, 66th Wyoming Legislature, shall convene on the 14th day of February, 2022 at the hour of ten o'clock a.m.
3. That the House of Representatives specifically concurs in any identical motion adopted by the Senate.
4. That if the Senate fails to concur in the action of the House of Representatives under paragraphs 1 through 3 of this motion, by adopting an identical motion applicable to the Senate, the House of Representatives of the 66th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, is adjourned sine die.

Speaker Barlow: You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye', opposed, 'No.' By your vote, the motion has passed the House.

Speaker Barlow: We are now at that order of business, the Reading, Correction and Approval of the Journal.

Representative Haroldson: Mr. Speaker, your Journal Committee reports that the Journal of April 7, 2021 has been read and recommends that it be approved.

Representative Provenza seconded the motion.

Speaker Barlow: There being no objection, the report is adopted

Benediction by Representative Larsen.

Speaker Barlow: The House is adjourned.

Wendy Harding
House Chief Clerk
